Local Briefs

Romulus will host the Municipal Officials Conference organized by Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor) and scheduled for June 29 at the Airport Hilton Inn.

Ford noted in a memorandum to city and township officials that "due to budget restraints and cutbacks being experienced by many of the communities within my district, the conference will be a one-day function."

A broad range of topics will be discussed, emphasizing federal programs which offer grants, loans, and other assistance to local communities.

Don't look for the City of Romulus to support many projects initiated by the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. The commissioners have been circulating a resolution that opposes House Bill 4211.

That bill, authorized by State Rep Edward Mahalak (D-Romulus) would remove the airport concession exemption from taxes that lessees now have. Romulus wants lessees at Metro Airport to start paying their fair share of the taxes.

The reason why the commissioners are anti-4211 is that they feel "legislators generally are not receptive to changing a state law to resolve a single local dispute."

Young Christians for Christ Youth Group of St. John's Lutheran Church will hold their annual Flower & Vegetable plant sale at the church on Saturday, May 7 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and Sunday, May 8 from noon to 5 p.m.

The church is located at 28320 Waltz Rd., in New Boston.

At the same time and place, the trustees of St. John's will conduct a rummage sale. All funds will be used to purchase a ramp for the handicapped.

For further information, contact Ray Eissinger, chairman, at 322-3386.

Are you in need of some good used clothing, furniture items and miscellaneous articles?

The St. Stephens Church, Huron River Drive, New Boston, is the place to check. Open Monday through Wednesday, 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., clothes are available from 10 cents and up.

And the rains came

Flooded basements and highways along with damaged cars caused by golf-sized hail were the extent of the damage left in the wake of Monday's torrential rains which hit Southeastern Michigan. The storm grew to tornado status in St. Clair Shores, causing millions of dollars worth of damage. Above, a Romulus student receives an unexpected shower from a truck that plows through the flooded street at Wayne Road and the I-94 West entrance ramp in Romulus. Rain was also forecast for yesterday, compounding the problems.

Stormy weather

Romulus, Huron escape the wrath and damage of season's first storm

The torrential rains that swept through the area Monday afternoon caused "thousands of dollars worth of damage in Sumpter Township" in its wake, according to Jim Reeves, Township Supervisor.

"We have one street - Paris Street - completely under water and I have a gentlemen right here in my office whose two cars are submerged under water,"

Reeves said. "The situation out here is critical, and if the rains continue it could just wipe Sumpter right off the map."

Reeves said he put in an urgent call to the Wayne County Road Commission to inform officials about "the disastrous situation." "We're waiting for action."

"In fact, if we don't get immediate help and it continues to rain, I just don't know what we'll do," Reeves continued. "This township has a drainage problem and there isn't money available to solve it."

Other neighboring communities escaped the wrath of the storm that downed power lines, tree limbs and flooded hundreds of basements.

Township board approves plan for $61,000 federal grant

By JERRY DESHARNAIS
(ANP Special Writer)

Plans of application for a $61,000 federal grant were discussed and approved by the Huron Township Board last week.

By unanimous vote, the administrative staff was authorized to compile a proposed list of projects for Block Grant Funds, Huron Township's share of the $5 billion jobs bill package recently passed by Congress.

"If all the projects we put in this package are eligible," said John Chihan, Deputy Supervisor, "it'll get funded."

The township's $61,000 share will be allocated through the Wayne County consortium (partnership) to which it belongs.

Wayne County is scheduled to get about $2 million from the $5 billion federal package.

Chihan told the board that the filing date of the application for the funds with the county is May 20.

Prior to that date, the Township must publish in the newspaper a proposed list of projects, hold a public hearing, approve the projects at a board meeting, and then publish in the newspaper the approved projects.

The Public Hearing is slated for Wednesday, May 11, at 7 p.m., at the Township Hall in New Boston, followed immediately by a board meeting.

In other business, the Board approved 6-0 the Huron Valley Wastewater Control System Contract.

The approval means the participation of the Township in Phase I of the construction of a sewer system for 17 municipalities by the DPW (Department of Public Works) in Wayne County.

Roughly, it will entail the construction of a sewer extending from the Flat Rock treatment plant down to and along the Huron River, to a 12-million-gallon-a-day treatment facility to be built in Brownstown Township.

Total construction and implementation cost of the first phase is estimated at $100 million, according to Jim Hamilton, chief engineer at DPW.

Whether the project will be implemented depends on approval of Lansing, Washington, and the sale of bonds.

The Federal government is expected to finance 75% of the money. Huron Township's share of the cost will be determined by a percentage of the interest cost for the bonds sold to the public.

The board made the vote on the contract after statements of approval and recommendation by Township attorney Richard James and consulting engineer Jerry Jarrett.

In other matters, the Board voted to participate in a tentative proposal for a senior citizens complex in Belleville.

The residence, a 100-unit facility, would be built with funds from a HUD (Housing and Urban Development) grant.

The National Church Residence Corporation, a non-profit organization, has agreed to sponsor the bid and administer the facility.

A fee of $7,500 would be needed by the participating communities (among them Belleville, Romulus, Sumpter, Van Buren and Huron Township) to prepare application to HUD by June 1.

The board voted 5-0 to authorize the expenditure of $500 toward the fee.

In her regular board meeting report, Treasurer Christine Gamber advised the board that a 6.8-mill levy will be on the July tax rolls as partial settlement of the Angelo Moreno and Associates $107,000 drainage study lawsuit. Another portion will be put on the December tax rolls.

Bizek vs. city

'Political firing, back-pay case' in judge's hand

Judge John C. Seiler of the 29th District Court in Wayne was to rule today whether 10 former employees and department heads of the City of Romulus were illegally discharged in January of 1976 by the then Mayor of the City, James Stewart, and are entitled to back pay and salaries.

Judge Seiler heard arguments last week from the plaintiffs and their attorney, Geoffrey N. Fieger, a Southfield attorney, who is representing the former employees. The lawsuit is filed by Edmund Bizek, a one-time purchasing director and assessor, who was fired when Stewart took office in 1975.

Joined in the suit against the city are plaintiffs Carole Bales, who served as City Council Secretary, Lorraine Kubiak, Personnel Director, Daniel Lambert, George Hartgrove (who is deceased), James Radford, Barry Baumann, Inventory Control, James Darnell, Ordinance Officer, Robert D. Plank, and John F. Chihan.

Five of the plaintiffs are asking for back pay from the date they were terminated and accumulated time. They are Bales, Kubiak, Radford, Baumann, Darnell and Plank.

According to the plaintiffs' attorney, two allegations have been set forth against the City of Romulus.

"First of all the city was contractually obligated by virtue of its ordinances and resolutions to pay discharged employees, the overtime hours work which they were not compensated for. That time is called 'comp or compensatory time' had been allowed to non-union employees who worked overtime," Fieger said.

The city argued that with two exceptions it has not permitted financial payment for comp time and that workers were allowed to take "time off" as payment for overtime work.

Fieger said that the 10 plaintiffs were unable to take comp time because "when the new mayor (Stewart) was elected, he terminated their jobs."

"These people were entitled to compensatory time when he (Stewart) was elected in 1975," Fieger added. "First of all, we established that the policy of the Romulus City Council was to pay overtime to non-union employees who couldn't take comp time off."

"We also established that the four instances in which people sought comp time and were awarded it, and in no case was there anyone who ever was denied compensatory time."

"We believe the final resolution of the city after Mayor Stewart was elected, which was resolution 75-812, stated that employees were to be compensated according to past city policies, and that past city policies had been unanimously, 100 percent of the time to pay employees who couldn't take comp time."

Fieger said that he believed the city had breached the employees' contract when the city refused to pay the discharged employees the overtime due them.

"When he (Stewart) was elected in 1975, he told those people that if they didn't support him, he would get them and he did," Fieger said.

Under the Romulus City Charter, department heads serve at the discretion of the mayor. The department heads' terms automatically expire on the first Monday of December, following the election of

Road Commissioner

Banks takes oath of office

Although she and two others have taken the oath of office, Mary Ann Banks, Mayor Pro Tem of Romulus, will not be serving as a Wayne County Road Commissioner, not for 20 days, at least.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Irwin H. Burdick has issued a "stay" on his previous order that the three appointees—Mrs. Banks, Dr. Janice Frazier, and Curt Boller, Brownstown Township Supervisor, were indeed the heirs apparent to the seats they were appointed to by Wayne County Executive William Lucas.

Last week, Judge Burdick ruled that Lucas has the power to fire the three members of the road commission and replace them with his own appointments. However, he has asked that a 20-day period be maintained without changes to give those who wish to appeal his decision an opportunity to do so if they so desire.

Lucas found himself in the midst of a court battle when he attempted to oust the three present commissioners and in their place insert his appointees. He argued that the newly adopted County Charter gave him the power to make the appointments. Judge Burdick agreed.

Mrs. Banks, along with Dr. Frazier and Boller were sworn into office by Circuit Court Judge Geraldine Ford at 4:30 p.m. on April 27.

Mrs. Banks, 50, has served on the Romulus City Council for the past 5½ years. She was the top vote-getter in the 1981 city election and by Charter provision, was awarded the Mayor Pro Tem position.

The discount program is available through the cooperation of Wade Shows and the Romulus Central Business District Association.

Historical site

The Ruth C. Miank home (above) at 11050 Meredith, Romulus, will be designated as a local historical site during dedication ceremonies at 1:30 p.m. May 15. Following the Heritage Day ceremonies at the home, a community picnic will be held on the grounds with the public asked to bring a lunch and table service. Coffee and orange drink will be provided by the Romulus Historical Society. The home stands on a small portion of land purchased by Jenks Pullen in 1832. The dedication is part of the Romulus Michigan Week celebration.

Volunteers needed

Curtains going up on 'Hanzel & Gretel'

The children's opera "Hansel and Gretel" performed by the Piccolo Opera Company will be presented to Romulus elementary students on May 26.

The opera is the highlight around a program of educational activities that is being developed by Judith James, a teacher in Romulus.

The program involves 1,600 students in grades two, three, four, and five. The size of the project presents a need for the involvement of many people. Thus far, the business, service organizations, and residents of the community have worked well together to provide funds.

"Now, the project requires many helping hands to accommodate the students as efficiently as possible," said Pat Ditsch, a spokesperson for the group.

Volunteers are needed during the week of May 23 to help with the program guide, to serve as the stage crew, as ushers, and to help the children, she pointed out.

Any adult who can offer a few hours or more to help, should telephone Alice Kesner — 941-1885, or Pat Ditsch — 941-0558.

Donations are still being accepted.

Each child's involvement costs $1.20.

One may contribute as little or as much as they wish.

Donations may be sent to the Romulus Parents Area Council, 36540 Grant Road, Romulus; or given to the school secretary in a sealed envelope and labeled opera-RPAC.

Sumpter vs. landfill owners

City Sand's donation ignites fireworks

BY EVE SILBERMAN
(ANP Special Writer)

A $500 donation from City Sand and Landfill to support fireworks at the July 9 Sumpter Day festivities touched off political fireworks at a recent Sumpter Board of Trustees meeting.

"It doesn't seem fitting to accept a donation when we're in litigation with them," a disgruntled citizen told the board. Another Township resident also spoke up against accepting the money.

Trustee John Morgan, who is working with the Sumpter Day Committee, told residents he sympathized but could do little to help.

"My voice was just one of many," Morgan said, "and other people wanted to accept the funds."

The donation was made when citizens involved in planning the all-day celebration solicited City Sand, along with other area businesses, to contribute funds for ads in the Sumpter Day program. Money raised from the ads will help pay for the fireworks.

Sumpter Township has been involved in a lawsuit with City Sand and Landfill, concerning City Sand's operation of the dump at Willow and Elwell, for the past two years.

In business affecting another landfill, the trustees authorized the City Attorney to begin checking into the conditions of the Satterlee landfill at Jud and Carleton Rd. Trustees expressed concern over possible unsafe conditions at the deserted site, owned by the Lyle Trucking company.

In other matters at the April 26 Board meeting:

Supervisor Jim Reeves reported that Sumpter Township will receive $112,959 from the federally funded Emergency Jobs Bill, to hire local citizens unemployed for at least 15 of the past 26 weeks. Ways to spend the funds, administered through a Community Development Block Grant, will be discussed at an open meeting on May 5 at 5 p.m. in the Sumpter Municipal Building.

Reeves also announced that the township has passed the Farmers Home Administration Audit. Last conducted three years ago, the audit checked into the monies used to install the waterline at Sherwood and Carr Road.

The board passed a resolution agreeing to explore the possibility of using the Old Sumpter School, along with two other closed school buildings in Van Buren Township, for shared housing for senior citizens. The Board will check into the matter in conjunction with the Van Buren Board and the Belleville and Van Buren School Board.

RCL to host fish dinner

The Romulus Civic League will host a fish and chicken dinner sale from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, May 7, at the Romulus Civic League, 11495 Wahrman, Romulus. Dinners will be available at $3.50 the night Monday but opened on Tuesday as the waters of the Huron River receded, township supervisor A.J. Haener said.

"We had our share of problems," Haener added, "but there were no reports of any injuries associated with the storm. The bridge had been closed during the night because of flooding waters, but it was reopened Tuesday morning."

Romulus also had its share of problems because of the rains and golf-ball size hail.

"We had some patrol cars damaged by the hail," Police Chief Donald Flood reported, "and, of course, we had some downed wires, but to my knowledge no one was injured. I think we were pretty lucky when you compare what happened out there in St. Clair Shores."

Tornadoes hit Southeastern Michigan Monday afternoon, knocking down power lines and destroying homes, uprooting trees in the Shores area.

No one reported injured

Willis Hester, dispatcher for the Department of Public Works in Romulus, said that the waters caused some erosion of roadways and flooded numerous basements.

"We hope that our residents will be patient because our system (drainage system) are taking a beating by all of this," Hester said. "It was just a little more than it (the system) could handle.

"We have all of our crews out there working now and we have all the drains open now, but if we get any more rain we could have a lot of problems," he added.

Anthony Talaga, head of the Belleville Department of Public Works, said that only one street - Davis - had been flooded, "however that was even passable."

"We were on stand-by duty because of the tornado warning, but the rains didn't cause us that big of a headache as they apparently did in other communities. I feel that we were quite fortunate and that's the way we would like to keep it around here," Talaga added.

In Van Buren Township there were a dozen complaints logged about flooded streets, and several persons had to wade through knee deep front yard water to get to their homes, but that was the extent of the damage left by the downpour.

"We also had a crew standing vigil at French Landing Dam," said George Craven, township supervisor. We opened up the gates in the dam to allow the water to flood the park. But everything appears to be all right now.

"We did get some complaints that the hail broke windows in greenhouses. No one was injured, to my knowledge," Craven added.

Unpaved roads stir controversy

It must be spring in Canton Township.

As is traditional with the advent of warm weather, members of the township board of trustees have begun to receive complaints regarding the conditions of the unpaved roads in the township and the regular board meeting Tuesday evening was no exception to this established township tradition.

Mae Sutton and a group of residents of Windsor Woods subdivision located off Warren Road appeared before council to complain about the dust and poor condition of the roadway.

"We can't see out the windows the dust is so bad and a lot of children are ill," Sutton told the board members.

Canton Township Clerk John Flodin interrupted Sutton and explained that he and the other board members had heard a great deal about the condition of the roads over the years. "We've heard a lot of problems with relation to dust," he said, "but I may have some good news for you.

"Wayne County Road Commission will apply calcium chloride to two roads in the township according to information I received today," Flodin said. "They will apply it to Warren from the Westland border to Beck and on Haggerty from Michigan Avenue to Cherry Hill," he said.

Sutton inquired about the possibility of paving the road and Township Supervisor James Poole reminded her that the issue of paving within the township had been placed on a ballot and soundly rejected by the voters.

Poole explained to Sutton and to other members of the audience that he had received many complaints from various sections of the township regarding the roads but that according to Wayne County officials and an investigation by the township the chloride treatments would cost in excess of $90,000, an expense that the township budget would not bear at this time.

"I suggested we put the paving question on the ballot and I'd like to see it on the ballot again only this time I'd like to be specific about which roads we plan on paving. You people wouldn't vote to pay for paving roads three miles away from where you live," he said.

Flodin explained to the audience that none of the taxes they paid to the township went for maintenance or repair of the roads, those monies came only from the gasoline and license plate taxes assessed. "I find myself hard pressed to defend the Wayne County Road Commission, but in this case, their money has diminished despite what we feel we pay. The amount they are receiving is only equal to what they received in 1974 and 1975," he said.

He reminded the group present that the issue had been defeated by the voters, even though the total cost per homeowner for the paving project would only have been $35 per year. "But $35 a year to someone who can't afford to make his house payments is a lot of money," he noted.

Following much discussion regarding the condition of the roads, speed limits and problems residents were having, a citizen inquired if it would be possible for the area residents to apply dust treatments to the roadway themselves.

"We can do better than that," Poole told him. "You get the money for the treatment, and we'll get it sprayed and put down for you," he said.

Trustee Stephen Larson explained to the audience that the board members had the solution to the problem, and every board that had ever governed in the township had it. "We could increase taxes to the point we could afford the equipment and the funds to do the paving and treatment, but I don't want my taxes increased by one-third," he said. "We tried to do the democratic thing by putting it on the ballot.

"We hear complaints about the roads about four months of every year, but we hear complaints about the taxes all year long," he concluded.

Banks sworn in

titles or positions as any "conflict of interest."

"I don't believe as a legislator, that business performed with the Wayne County Road Commission interferes with any of my functions as a council person," Mrs. Banks said.

Mrs. Banks added she also views her position on the road commission as "an interim job."

"I primarily accepted this position with the purpose of serving during an interim period," she said. She explained that the Wayne County Executive has announced that he has plans to abolish the road commission.

Lucas had earlier expressed plans of ridding the county of road commissioners because they had lost "contact with the communities they served."

A lifelong resident of Romulus, Mrs. Banks is a product of the Romulus schools and has attended classes at Henry Ford Community College. She and her husband, Robert, have three children.

Mrs. Banks' term of office as a commissioner is 4 years. She will reportedly receive $10,000 a year for her duties.

Regarding proposed ordinance

WCGH public hearings are set

Public Hearings regarding a proposed ordinance providing for "the operation, maintenance and administration" of Wayne County General Hospital have been scheduled by Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, who represents Garden City, Inkster and Westland, for May 10th and 11th in Westland, Ecorse and Detroit.

The Human Resources Committee, chaired by Commissioner Beard, was charged by the Wayne County Commission with developing the ordinance, in accordance with the new Wayne County Charter.

The committee has approved the first draft, which will be considered at the hearings.

The first hearing will be at 10 a.m. in the Bailey Recreation Center All-Purpose Room, located behind the Westland City Hall, 36601 Ford Road, Westland 48185, west of Wayne Road, May 10.

The second hearing will be at 2 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Ecorse City Hall, 3869 West Jefferson, Ecorse 48229, between Outer Drive and Schaefer, May 10.

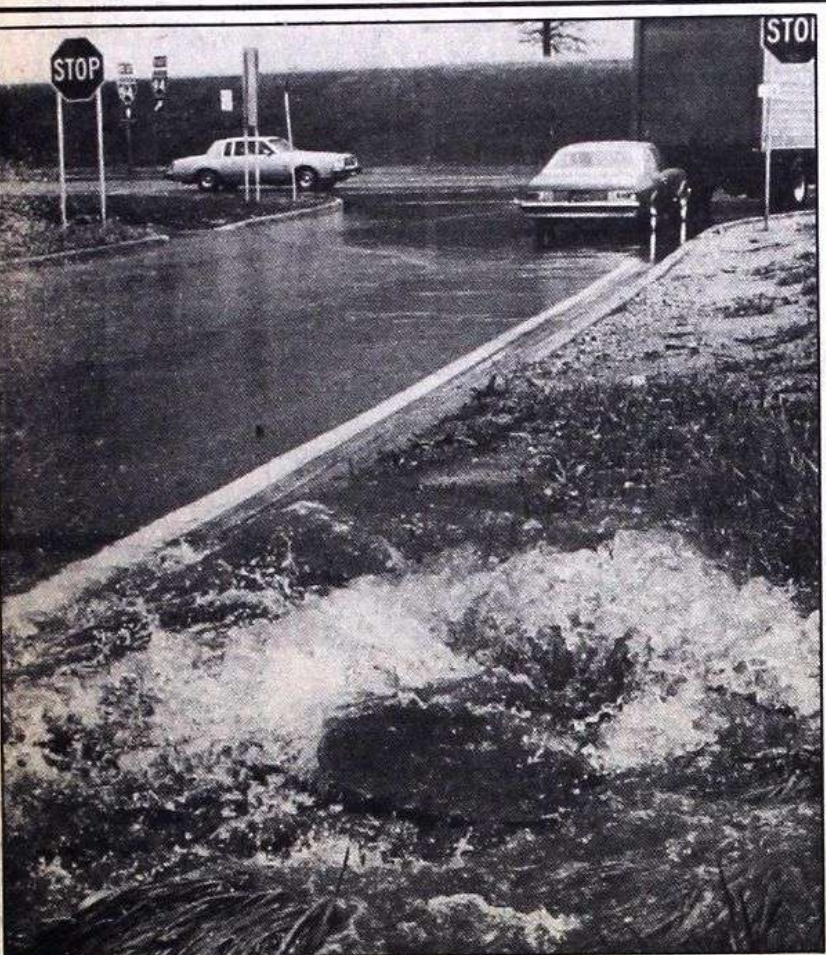

The final hearing will take place at 10 a.m. in Conference Room A, 7th floor, City County Building, Detroit 48226, Wednesday, May 11th, prior to the start of a Human Resources Committee meeting.

Section 3.117, Public County Hospital Facilities, reads as follows:

"The Commission shall provide by ordinance for the operation, maintenance and administration of public county hospital facilities and shall assure an adequate level of physical and mental health services for the residents of the county."

The public is invited to all of the hearings and those wishing to testify are requested to also submit their testimony in writing for the record.

Too much to handle

As in other parts of the city and neighboring communities, storm sewers took a beating from the torrential rains that pelted the area Monday. This one at the exit ramp on I-94 East and Wayne Road is coughing up the water into the streets, causing hazardous driving. No injuries were attributed to the rains or "golf-ball-size" hail, but cars and windows took a beating. Photo by Lothar Konietzko, ANP chief photographer.

Court gets 'Bizek case'

the new mayor, then how could the discharged department heads argue for their positions?

Fieger said that the five who were not department heads: Baumann, Radford, Plank, Darnell and Bales obviously didn't fall in this category, but the other five did.

"However, there is a U.S. Supreme Court Case called 'Bronti vs. Finkle' which was decided on March 31, 1980 where, because of politics, a person was discharged from his position solely because of political beliefs, and that, the courts decided is a violation of the First and 14th Amendments."

"And this case (Bizek vs. City of Romulus) has a lot of similarities with the Bronti case," Fieger contends. "We believe that the five persons who were fired by the city were entitled to their jobs and the five department heads were fired for political reasons in violation of their constitutional and civil rights."

Whichever way Judge Seiler rules, the loser said they would appeal to the high court.

Huron OKs $61,000 grant plan

The treasurer also noted for the board that the assessed state equalized evaluation for Huron Township has dropped from $97-to-92 million.

In other business, Township Supervisor A.J. Haener recommended and the board approved unanimously the establishment of a police review board consisting of professionals to review the credentials of part-time officers seeking a full-time position.

The most recent vacancy on the Huron police force occurred in November, 1982, and is yet to be filled.

In other law enforcement matters, Haener announced the promotion of John Meyers to Sergeant, effective May 1.

Concerning the recruitment of candidates for the police reserves, Haener discussed the intention of advertising in the local papers for candidates from within the community.

Near the end of the meeting, the board went into executive (closed) session, at the request of Supervisor Haener to discuss the current negotiations with the police union.

The administration and union have been deadlocked for the past year on a wage increment component of the current three-year contract.

Following the executive session, the board voted 6-0 to add Township Clerk Mary Lou Carey to the Township-police negotiating team. She will join Treasurer Christin Gamber and Haener on the team.

The Board also authorized the administrative staff to determine the appropriate increases in wages for the employees in the general office and water and sewer department. The vote was 6-0.

Coffee break

members" of the coffee break invite others to join them at the center to enjoy the taste of a good cup of coffee, and your age doesn't matter, either, they say. Photo by Lothar Konietzko, ANP chief photographer.

3 Romulus reserve officers graduate

Three Romulus Police Department reserve officers recently completed a 100 hour training course at the Schoolcraft Community College.

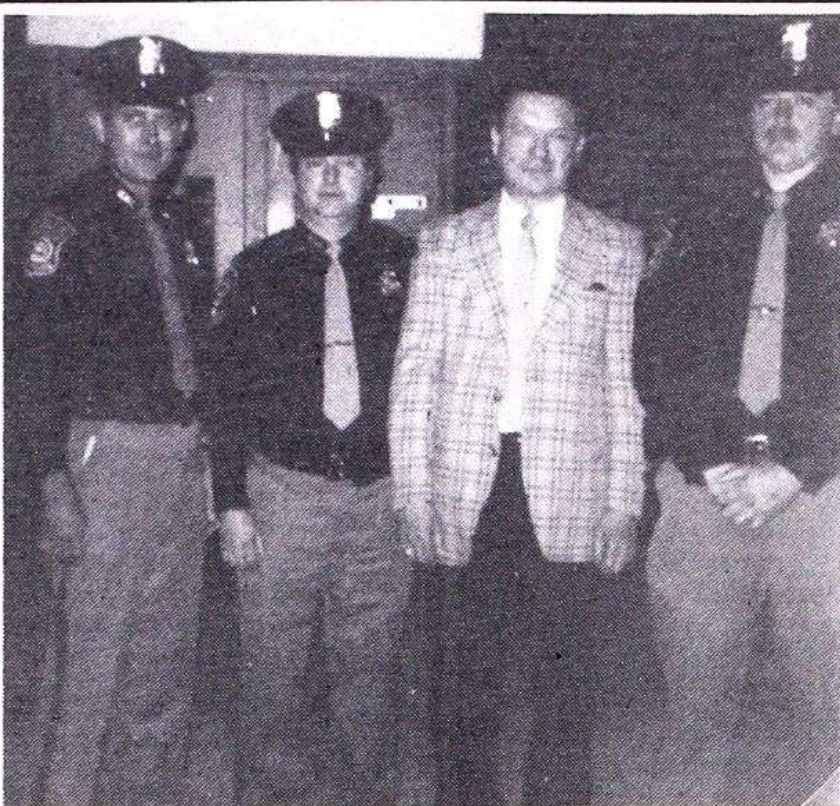

The reserve officers are Charles Glover, George Chaput and Thomas Ellis. They attended classes two times a week starting in January. They graduated on April 27.

The Reserve Officer Training Course consists of training in patrol, investigations, first aid, as well as safety and responsibility of firearms.

The main object of the course is to familiarize reserve officers with the duties and responsibilities of a reserve police officer.

The three recent graduates makes a total of 11 Romulus reserves who have completed this training. Chief Donald Flood said the reserve program is very important to the community.

"These are dedicated people who volunteer many hours of their time," he noted.

Chief Flood added the training the Reserve Officers received at Schoolcraft College will be utilized in the Crime Prevention Program as well as the other many duties they perform.

Romulus High names top senior scholars

Who are the top scholars at Romulus Senior High School this year?

That question was recently answered by E.L. Sheffield, high school principal.

Principal Sheffield revealed that Todd Gibbs will serve as valedictorian, while the salutatorians are Kimberly Vavro and Richard Daniel.

Leading the class of graduates is Gibbs with a 3.9 G.P.A. Todd resides at 30742 Dorset and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gibbs. He will attend the University of Michigan and major in Engineering.

Kim lives at 15778 Colbert with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vavro. She will attend the University of Michigan where she will study Pre-med. Richard resides at 34955 Julie Drive. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Daniel. He also plans to attend the University of Michigan and to major in architecture.

The remaining students who make up the top 10 in a class of 300 are Armando Zamora, Pamela Kasenow, Matthew Bossory, Eugene Labiak, Sheryl Paton, Randall Csupak, and David Branch.

Kindergarten round-up set in Romulus

Romulus Community Schools will hold their pre-kindergarten screening and registration on May 12 and May 13 and the week of May 16 at Cory Elementary School, Smith and S. Wayne Rds.

Parents are urged to contact the elementary school that their child will be attending in September. Birth certificates and shot records and any other pertinent information should be brought to the screening.

Free vision and hearing tests will be conducted and a nurse will be available to answer questions.

Here are the telephone numbers of Romulus schools: Barth (942-0050); Cory (721-4757), Halecreek (942-0140), Hayti (941-6725), Merri-man (941-6900) and Wick Elementary (326-4610).

On Emergency Jobs' Bill

Sumpter to hold public hearing

Sumpter officials and residents will discuss the Community Development Block Grant Emergency Jobs Bill at a special public hearing scheduled for 5 p.m., Thurs., May 5.

The meeting will be held at the Sumpter Township Hall, 23480 Sumpter Rd.

"The purpose for this meeting is to discuss the possible projects or programs that the monies allotted to the township will be able to create," noted Louis P. Banotai, township clerk.

"These projects or programs must be 'labor intensive' and eligibility is based on being unemployed for 15 of the past 26 weeks," he added.

Also, local projects must be launched and be completed within 12 months from the date a contract is awarded.

For further information, contact the Sumpter Township Clerk's Office at 697-0900.

Oakley asks council approval

Wesleyan seeks use of park

William M. Oakley, Mayor of Romulus, is expected to recommend this week that the City Council approve an agreement with Wesleyan Church for the use of Kennedy Park.

Wesleyan had an agreement with the city to utilize the park but the agreement apparently has expired.

"A representative of the church called to my attention recently that the original agreement was only good for one year," Mayor Oakley noted in a memorandum to council, "and my recollection of the situation is that it was the council's intent that the agreement be permanent, subject to the cancellation clause."

Mayor Oakley went on to say that he has instructed the city attorney to prepare a new agreement and recommended that council authorize the administration to execute the new agreement, according to the conditions set down by the attorney.

Council was to act on the mayor's recommendation last night.

It's time to count the birds

The second annual "Mother's Day Bird Count" will be held at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Sunday, May 8 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Persons are encouraged to join park naturalists for a day-long inventory of bird life within the park.

Spring migration will be at its peak, so bring mom to the park for a few hours of unusual fun on her day. Binoculars will be helpful in this project.

This program is free.

For information — contact the Nature Center at Oakwoods Metropark — Phone 697-9181 (Belleville).

Top fruit desserts with ricotta cheese mixed with sweet fruit juice or sweet wine.

Homemade popcorn deserves out-of-the-ordinary seasoning. Toss a batch of fresh, warm popcorn with garlic salt, oregano, 1/4 cup each parmesan and romano. Use butter or not, according to your conscience.

***

If butter sauce overheats and separates, do not despair. Whisk it smooth and spoon it on the plate UNDER the food. It'll still be delicious.

***

Before you chop or grind raisins — or any sticky fruits — sprinkle with lemon juice. Fruit will be easier to cut, and will taste better, too.

Prescription for a headache

Potential buyer turns out to be expert car thief

By PAT RICHARDS
(ANP Special Writer)

Have you ever let a prospect take your car for a test drive in order to sell it?

Dr. Sylvester Clouse did just that. And it probably will be the last time he'll do it. That incident cost him his car.

A friendly male voice called Dr. Clouse on May 1, at approximately 4:30 p.m. The voice said, "I saw your ad in the Trading Times." He asked the color and model of the car, then added: "I'd like to come over and see it."

A 1972 blue Chevrolet pulled in front of Dr. Clouse's home, Dr. Clouse related. A male, approximately 42-years-old, brown hair and warm blue eyes, got out of the car and approached Dr. Clouse.

After asking a moderate amount of questions, the 6-foot stranger checked the trunk, the fluids, and the tires of Dr. Clouse's 1982 Pontiac Bonneville. The prospective buyer then asked if he could test drive the car.

Dr. Clouse stood on his front lawn on that warm and sunny day, feeling good about the prospect of selling his car to this very nice, affable acquaintance.

The buyer's words echoed in his ears: "Looks like we'll be going to the bank today."

After 15 minutes had passed, Dr. Clouse, still standing on the front of his lawn, rubbed the back of his neck, while stretching his head forward to see his white Pontiac with red pin stripes returning down the road.

After 20 minutes, he wiped his brow as he went into the house to double check the time.

After 40 minutes, Dr. Clouse, feeling extremely nervous — "Maybe he took it to show to his wife. Maybe he wrecked it? Maybe he stole my car!" — dialed the police, and later, his insurance company.

The above story is true. The name, description of the thief, and some minor facts have been changed to protect the embarrassment of the innocent.

Any resemblance is purely coincidental.

Carefully read the following to reduce the possibility of the above happening to you.

Officer Steve Zultowski, Public Relations for the Southfield Police, says, "There are no cut and dried answers to prevent this type of thing from happening."

"Certainly, you should check to see if the person has a valid and current Michigan driver's license."

"Compare the person to the picture, height, weight, etc. Remember the address."

"Do not just turn over the key to your car," advises Officer Zultowski, "stay in your car. Accompany the person looking at the vehicle. They could have an accident, or abuse your car. It doesn't happen very often, but it does happen."

"A lady should have her husband or a friend go with the person test driving the car."

"It is true," the officer points out, "that you are also exposing yourself to personal danger, not just loss of property. There just are no clear-cut rules."

"You really have to evaluate each situation," Zultowski continues, for example, if you are selling a very expensive car, say a Cadillac, and an 18-year-old shows up to test drive it, be leery.

"Be cautious of the information you give on the phone," Zultowski warns. "There was one incident where someone received a call in response to an ad in the paper. The seller said, 'Don't come until after 5 o'clock because no one will be home.' When the seller arrived home at 5, he had been cleaned out."

"Say, 'My son will be using the car. It won't be available.' Do not say: 'I'm home alone, I live by myself, or I won't be home.' Officer Zultowski concluded, "Give the impression someone is home even if they aren't."

Betty Doecker, a radio operator for the Michigan State Police, 1501 Whittaker, Ypsilanti branch, says every car has a vehicle identification number assigned to it when it is built. This number is put in various places on your car, and no other car has this number. It is listed on your car title, and on your car registration.

Ms. Doecker suggests that you call your state, county, or local police. Ask for your Community Service's officer. Almost all offices have an etching tool which you can check out and take home to put identification numbers on your valuables: car and home tape decks, CB's, televisions, radios, and any other valuables you have. She suggests that you put MI for Michigan followed by your driver's license number.

Ms. Doecker says you will always have the same driver's license number unless you marry. Then, the first three digits change, but the computer will still kick it in from the remaining numbers.

So, the next time someone calls and wants to test drive your car, be prepared.

$4 billion awaiting Congressional action

Local officials await Jobs' Bill funds

Hoping to bring home some bacon for Wayne County, William G. Suzore, Chairman of the County Commission, testified before the House Public Works Subcommittee on Economic Development in Washington, D.C., last week where a $4 billion jobs bill is pending before Congress.

Suzore appeared before the Subcommittee chaired by Congressman James Oberstar (D-Minn.).

According to Chairman Suzore, the bill will create immediate, useful jobs on labor-intensive projects repairing, renovating and improving public facilities such as highways, bridges, water and sewer lines, industrial parks, roads and streets.

Suzore was selected to testify on behalf of the National Association of Counties (NACO) because of the massive 16-unemployment in Wayne County. Criteria for eligible governmental units of 25,000 or more is a minimum unemployment rate of 8%.

"The jobs bills," Suzore explained, "will provide $4 billion per year to states, municipalities (25,000 or more), urban counties and Indian tribes, with no state receiving less than 3/4 to 1 percent or more than 12 1/2 percent. 65% will be made available in each on a ratio of unemployed to the total number of unemployed nationwide and 35% will be apportioned among those states with an average unemployment rate of over 12% for the preceding 12 months."

Construction must begin within 60 days of approval of applications and must be completed within one year.

Chairman Suzore's six-page testimony focused on HR 2544 (the Jobs Bill) and wasted no time in pointing out that Wayne County's unemployment had reached as high as 17% and was currently running at 16%. "The improvement of the U.S.

auto market, and a local economic revitalization and development strategy are essential to long-term economic health of our county and region," Suzore said, "but those things take time. We need the quick and immediate infusion of an emergency jobs effort to address the imminent dilemma of hard working Americans without work. We feel that HR 2544 does this."

Suzore expressed his concern with a provision of the bill that would adversely affect a number of counties, such as Wayne and those in the midwest and north-eastern parts of the country—the bill's definition of an urban county. He pointed out that the bill defines urban counties as those with a population of 200,000 exclusive of the population of cities of 25,000 or more, meaning that counties such as Wayne and Anoka and Hennepin in Minnesota, etc., would be forced to apply for a share of the funds made available to the states while the cities would get direct grants.

The chairman would like to see the urban county definition modified.

"In summary," Suzore told the hearing, "we are supportive of your efforts and we are prepared to work with the members of the committee to pursue the goals of HR 2544."

Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Westland) who strongly opposed the hiring of Touche-Ross to make a study of Wayne County General Hospital as part of the County Executive's reorganizational plan, stands before a stack of 15 previous studies of the medical facility made at a cost of more than $1 million. The Touche-Ross firm estimates its fee will be $45,000. County Executive William Lucas argued that an up-dated review is needed before an intelligent decision concerning the hospital's future can be made.

It's to your credit to be careful

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth in a series of crime prevention articles authored by Cathy Horste, who serves as chairman of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs Crime Reduction Division and is a Van Buren Township Police Department Crime Prevention Officer.)

By CATHY HORSTE

Did you ever hear the joke about the store clerk who was so accustomed to taking credit cards that when a customer offered him cash, he insisted on two pieces of identification?

A humorous story, of course, but it reflects the widespread use of credit cards in today's society. That widespread use has created a situation that is not so humorous — the theft and fraudulent use of credit cards costing Americans millions.

There are many ways you can be ripped off as a result of being careless with your credit cards . . . you could end up paying for items you didn't order and never received, or unauthorized tips and unexplained charges might be placed on your account without your knowledge.

Practicing a few simple techniques can help reduce the possibility that you will become the victim of a credit card crook:

- Protect your credit cards just as though they were cash. Report their theft or loss immediately to both the police and the issuing company.
- Keep track of the expiration dates of your credit cards. Notify the company immediately if you expect to receive a renewal card in the mail and it fails to arrive well before the old one expires.

- Be certain that all charge slips are completely filled out and totaled before signing them. If an error is detected on an original charge slip, be certain that it is destroyed in your presence before you sign a replacement.

- Keep your copy of all charge slips and compare them with your monthly statement to insure that they agree. It is very easy for an unscrupulous shopkeeper to make an extra charge slip for use at a later time.

- Always check your card when the clerk returns it to you after use to be sure that it is your card and not one that may be expired or 'hot', thus allowing them use of your good card.

With credit cards, just like so many other instances in which an easy opportunity to steal presents itself, a thief will find a way to cheat the citizen who is careless. Don't provide that easy opportunity. It will be to your credit to be careful.

If you desire more information on this or other crime prevention matters, contact Officer Cathy Horste, Van Buren Township Police Department Crime Prevention Bureau, 699-2003.

Sumpter approves budget for fiscal year

The Sumpter Township Board of Trustees approved the 1983-84 general fund budget by a 5-2 vote at its meeting on April 26.

Voting against approval of the $913,425 budget were Treasurer Clarence Hoffman and Trustee Floyd Bevins, both of who objected to cutbacks in planning department expenditures.

The 1983-84 budget designates $6,000 for the planning department—a sharp cut from the $41,000 allocated in the current fiscal year.

As board liaison to the planning department, Bevins said the new level of funding was insufficient for the department to adequately perform its job.

Hoffman objected to a budget amendment which designated $2,500 from the planning department budget to pay the township engineer for time spent on planning department business.

As adopted, the budget reflects a $53,325 deficit. While revenues increased $58,147 to $860,100, expenditures increased $51,140 to $913,425.

Reduced income from state revenue sharing may result in a four-day workweek for Township employees, according to Township Supervisor Jim Reeves.

Last year, the township had anticipated $365,653 in state revenue sharing but received only $321,400. This year, the township has budgeted $320,000 from state revenue sharing.

200 jobs available for youths in area

Wayne County will be sponsoring 200 jobs for economically disadvantaged youth between the ages of 18 and 21 this summer.

The eight-week program will begin June 20 and will place young adults in jobs at county park sites throughout the county. The positions will range from recreational maintenance aids to supervisors.

The pay will range from $3.50 to $5 per hour for 20 to 40 hours of work a week.

The federally funded project is aimed at beautifying the county's park system.

To qualify, youths must be residents of Wayne County, excluding the cities of Detroit, Dearborn, Livonia and Downriver communities, which are sponsoring similar programs, and unemployed at least seven days or underemployed, based on family income and size as established by U.S. poverty guidelines.

Successful applicants also must meet other requirements set forth in the Job Training Partnership Act of 1982.

Interested youth can contact Jay Parker at 224-7240 for further information.

lins from St. Anthony's Church-697-8641, David Walker, Comm. Baptist Church, Romulus-595-3214, Andrew Butler from the First Baptist Church of Romulus at 941-6849 or Paul Love from Community Methodist of Romulus at 941-4045.

House-to-house

Muscular Dystrophy prepares for drive

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is in the process of organizing its annual House-To-House March, and is currently looking for volunteer leaders and marchers in all Western Wayne County communities.

The march is scheduled for Tues., June 7 from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., and will take place in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, and Monroe counties.

Carol Mellon, Coordinator for the project, pointed out that, along with marchers, MDA is looking for district and area leaders who would be able to assist in recruiting marchers locally.

Mrs. Mellon also noted that any church, social, or civic groups that would like to participate are welcome.

"An MDA representative would be happy to stop by a meeting to show a short film and make a presentation about the organization," she added.

Jim Westphal, District Director for the Wayne County Chapter of MDA, offered: "Funds raised from the drive go toward neuromuscular research, as well as to support MDA's Patient Service Program." Included in MDA's Patient Service Program are wheelchairs, braces, clinic services, therapy sessions, summer camps, and more, and are provided at no direct cost to the family.

Besides its comprehensive Patient Service Program, MDA provides funds for a world wide research program which awards grants and fellowships to scientists in the U.S. and abroad. Since 1973, ten MDA supported neuromuscular disease research centers have been established. Locally, MDA supports two clinics and two summer camps for patients in the Southeastern Michigan area.

Anyone interested in assisting on the June 7 drive should contact Mrs. Mellon at 937-9123.

'Masters' of karate

With more than 500 competitors in the field, Romulus's representatives to the national championships, fared well as Keith Arms took a second place in men's Green Belt; Mary Cocuzza placed fourth in both women's forms and Brown Belt fighting; Steve Poletti grabbed a third place in mini pee wee fighting and Timothy Hill was runner-up in the mini-fighting. Tim is six-year-old and squared off with some nine-year-olds, while Christopher Rivera earned a first place in the junior-advanced Brown Belt competition. The group is instructed and trained by Master Willie Adams and is also sponsored by the Romulus Parks and Recreation Department. Displaying their awards are Cozuzza (rear row, from left), Null, Poletti and Master Rivera; in the first row are Arms and Adams. Those interested in karate lessons may register for the next series of classes by telephoning 941-0666, extension 254.

Belleville residents are awarded degrees

A Belleville resident was among the 70 graduates who participated in the 76th annual commencement ceremony for the Bronson School of Nursing held last week at the First United Methodist Church in Kalamazoo.

The graduate is Kathy Ann Shinn.

The graduating address, entitled "Nursing in thw World of Tomorrow," was presented by Julie Hoyer, Ph.D., chairperson for the Department of Nursing, Edgewood College in Madison, Wisconsin.

Also, Belleville resident, Jerome Krakowiak, of 43 E. Spencer, was among the 278 persons who received master's, specialist's or doctoral degrees from Western Michigan University at the end of the fall semester of the 1982-83 school year.

Krakowiak's earned a master's in science degree.

our opinions

School millages and elections

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article appeared in the March 20, 1983, issue of The Muskegon Chronicle and is reprinted with permission.)

By GEORGE ARWADY
Editor and Publisher
The Muskegon Chronicle

I hate millage votes.

As a close journalistic observer of hundreds of school millage elections in three Michigan urban areas, I think they are a ridiculous waste of time, money and energy.

All too often, our children end up paying a substantial penalty for coming out on the wrong end of a popularity contest that is frequently decided on the basis of ignorance, bias or selfishness.

As I see it, operating money for basic public education is a necessity of our society. The taxes to pay for it should not be subject to vote.

This is not a strange notion. A great many states, including New Jersey where I grew up, do not routinely vote on operating money for schools.

I would have no objection if people were asked for a direct vote on major new school buildings or other facilities. I wouldn't even mind if they had to approve extra millage for greatly enriched educational programs beyond a good basic course of study.

But it makes no sense to put the fundamentals of public education at risk in repeated do-or-die election campaigns, where the outcome can be determined by totally extraneous factors.

Do we put operating money for other basic governmental services on the ballot? Do we vote on money for police and fire departments, for public health and mental health, for welfare payments? Do we vote on Pentagon spending, Social Security or the salaries of Congressmen? Of course not. Instead, we let people take out their overall unhappiness with taxes only on the education of defenseless kids who don't even have the right to vote.

Not only is it stupid and unfair, but it runs against the mainstream of our representative, republican form of government.

If voters don't like the performance of their elected representatives on the school board, they should throw them out and elect new people. In fact, if I were getting up a new school-tax system, I'd also make the terms of school board members expire together every two years. That way it would be easy to throw out the whole bunch and start anew.

In my experience, most school board members do a conscientious job. They care about the quality of the schools. They watch expenditures carefully. They are good representatives of the people who elected them.

So why won't we let them run the schools without having to worry every year or two about the threat of millage defeats? There are no reasons except tradition and the shallow notion that millage votes, not local school boards, are the keys to maintaining the desired local control of education.

Elsewhere on this page appears an editorial supporting the upcoming millage request in the Orchard View School District. It is similar to many that have appeared in The Chronicle over the years. Last week, it was Ravenna. Next week, we'll have one in support of the Mona Shores millage effort.

Although our editorials and news stories always spell out the issues and complicated financial situations facing the individual school district and its voters, I always have doubted that elections are determined by such rational considerations.

Based on a dozen years of mail and phone calls, I would have to say that most "no" votes are cast for the following reasons:

1. Many people, particularly senior citizens, believe they cannot afford the property taxes they are paying, much less (in some cases) an increase.

It's usually a waste of breath to explain to them that they probably qualify for, and already receive, the homestead property tax credit (the so-called "circuit breaker"). They just do not understand that it will indirectly slash or eliminate the impact of school millages on their fixed-income or low-income household.

2. Many people vote "no" on school taxes because it is their only means to protest all taxes.

3. Many people vote "no" because they have no kids, send their kids to private schools or already have all their kids through school and don't see anything in public education that helps them. Another term for this is shortsighted selfishness.

4. Many people vote "no" because they are anti-intellectual in the most basic sense. They or their kids had a bad school experience. Or perhaps they resent the fact that teachers are paid (they think) more money than they make.

These four groups of "no" voters may discuss more high-sounding reasons for opposing operating millage, but just beneath the surface are these less-pretty underlying emotions that have little or nothing to do with what really goes on in the schools.

I don't think our entire educational system should be forced to struggle, year after year, against such attitudes.

It doesn't make any sense. And we should put an end to it.

America should remember slain police officers

On Sunday, May 15th, tens of thousands of uniformed police officers from coast to coast will place a black mourning band across their shield or star. At 11:00 a.m., many law enforcement departments will lower the national colors to half mast. In hundreds of communities, large and small, special memorial services will be held to remember those who have died while protecting their fellow Americans. All this activity occurs because Sunday, May 15th has been proclaimed by the Congress of the United States as "Police Memorial Day," and the start of National Peace Officers Week.

Col. Robert Ferguson, president of the American Police Hall of Fame and Museum, located in North Port, Florida, has stated that, "the names of nearly 2,000 lawmen killed in the line of duty should serve as a kind of national testament to justice — that these heroes cared about our American way of life enough to offer their own lives. It is for us, the living, to remember and honor our slain heroes as the patriots they are."

President Ronald Reagan has added his personal thoughts on the subject, as well. In a letter specially issued from the White House, the President wrote:

"Those officers who have made the supreme sacrifice have demonstrated their devotion to the fundamental values of decency so essential to the well-being of American life. Those men and women who have carried the cause of justice to the grave deserve not only our respect, but our heartfelt gratitude and affection. For without law and order, our society would soon crumble..."

Ferguson and the American Police Hall of Fame and Museum have requested that flags be flown at half staff, and have asked concerned citizens to request proclamations from their municipal governments in honor of all law enforcement officers, in the constant hope that police professionals and civilians move closer together as allies in the war against crime.

Since its inception over twenty years ago, the American Police Hall of Fame and Museum has been the only organization in the country to record, list, and honor the names of all U.S. police men and women slain in the line of duty. In addition, the Hall of Fame presents a Memorial flag, medal and special Citation to the family of the deceased officer as a token of respect for the ultimate sacrifice.

It is ironic that the first Memorial Day was recognized by John F. Kennedy. "Most of us recall that President Kennedy was killed in Dallas," states Ferguson, "but how many of us remember that Dallas policeman J.D. Tippit was also killed while apprehending the assassin?"

Police Memorial Day gives America the chance to honor Tippit and almost 2,000 other law enforcement men and women who have been killed."

Police Memorial Day, and Peace Officers Week have been the chief projects of the Police Hall of Fame and Museum, but in addition, the Hall of Fame and Museum are visited by thousands of school children and tourists annually. There they see dozens of exhibits relating to crime, crime prevention and the hazards of law enforcement.

A special project of the organization has been the maintenance of the gravesite of J. Edgar Hoover, perhaps America's most famous crimefighter. Upon learning that Hoover's grave had been vandalized and was in a sad state of disrepair, the Hall of Fame and Museum immediately had the memorial cleaned and is maintaining it with flowers and an American flag.

As part of its aim to honor police professionals — alive, as well as slain — the Police Hall of Fame and Museum makes regular awards in 19 categories to lawmen and civilians who have helped in the continuing struggle against crime. For many police departments, these awards are the only recognition the officers receive. (Those interested in learning more about the awards program should contact the Awards Chairman, Police Hall of Fame, at 1100 N.E. 125th Street, North Miami, FL 33161).

During Peace Officers Week, which runs from May 15-21, 1983, the American Police Hall of Fame and Museum is urging officers and citizens everywhere to arrange and attend special precinct open houses, seminars, meetings and receptions, because it feels that fighting America's crime requires everyone — police professionals and civilians alike — to join together to defeat those who threaten our safety and freedom.

not all evil

It started off as a shopping trip; it ended in the reaffirmation that there is innate good in human beings.

It is a strange and unique story that Mary Lou Pintar tells, but it is one that is rich in proof that the agile and thin thread of life doesn't pass without some good.

"I will try to make the experience and lesson as short as possible," Ms. Pintar said yesterday. "I think your readers will enjoy what happened to me."

Ms. Pintar goes on to say that she had been shopping at Pak & Save and that it was pouring rain outside, which isn't uncommon these days. But, then the uncommon did occur.

In her hurried shopping spree, she had left her purse in a shopping cart in the parking lot of the store. And, of course, she hadn't thought of it until....

"I was ready to go to work — I'm a nursing assistant," Ms. Pintar continues, "and there was this knock on my door. Here was this young man, in his early 30's I believe, standing there and smiling. He had my handbag over his shoulder and he said: 'Did you forget something?'"

Obviously, Ms. Pintar was stunned. It took some time to collect herself.

"I see that you were at the shopping center today," the young man continued as he stood there in the rain." He explained that he had found the purse in the cart in the parking lot, got the name and address of the owner and returned it.

Ms. Pintar revealed that there were some valuables and documents in the purse and all was returned. Here's Ms. Pintar again.

"There was four dollars in cash, a check book, a charge card and other miscellaneous sundries in the purse and he got half of the four dollars for all of his troubles. But my regret was that in all of the terrible haste I didn't get his name."

"This man made such an impression on me that I told everyone at work — anyone who would listen — and believe me I have lived in Westland for 26 years and I'm really proud that there are still people like him."

Ms. Pintar closed her note with a well-known saying. It goes like this:

"Any good that I can do or any good that I may say, let me do it now, for I may pass this way but only once."
How true. How true.

Ms. Pintar's final request was: "If you should print a small part of this and the fellow was to read it, I would want him to know how truly grateful I was and am, even if at the time I didn't appear to be."

"Also, if I could have, I would have filled his whole gas tank for his time and his troubles. I've learned through this experience that people often forget to let other people know how they feel."

Asbestos issue is not over

EDITOR — I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the fine coverage the Associated Newspapers' Romulus Roman gave to our cause, the removal of the asbestos from Romulus Senior High School.

Although we were unsuccessful in our attempt to pass the bond proposition we feel we have gained support from 703 citizens who voted "yes" for the removal.

As the spokesperson for the committee, I am happy to say we will not give up and that we will continue to inform the public of the hazards and dangers involved in having individuals, especially our children, exposed to asbestos.

The next millage election is June of 1983 and we will again launch a campaign to convince the public that the removal of asbestos from the high school is a must.

Again, thank you for the concern and the support the newspaper has shown. We hope that others will rally around this cause, a cause that has to be a primary concern of every child, parent and school official in the city of Romulus.

Surplus food drive successful

EDITOR — As President of the Metro Wayne Democratic Club I would like to take this opportunity to thank The Associated Newspapers' and its staff for helping to publicize and inform the residents of Wayne of the recent distribution of surplus foods for the needy.

The cooperation we have received from the Associated Newspapers, specifically the Wayne Eagle, has been tremendous. The publicity we received about our spring dance helped make it a success — more than 700 people took part in the festivities.

We would also like to thank Judy Anderson and the staff at Group Cable TV for their cooperation. We need more people like you in Wayne who care about the community and the needy and the unemployed and the poor.

"Thank you" again for caring about people and Wayne.

Eloise not a seniors' paradise

EDITOR — An article in the Associated Newspapers proposed the old complex at Eloise be torn down and the property be used for senior citizen housing.

Of all the possible uses for that property I do believe that putting senior citizens right on Michigan Avenue with all the noise from traffic is a good one.

Both the north and south sides of Michigan Avenue from Merri-man to Henry Ruff are involved in the Eloise Complex. Such a large piece of property along one of the busiest streets in the area is hardly suited to the tranquil setting desired for our older citizens. While at the same time this piece of property would be very valuable for commercial development.

This could serve two purposes: The first being that if the property was used for commercial development it would be placed on the tax rolls; Secondly, if the senior citizen development was put back of the commercial development north of Michigan Avenue, it would be shielded from the noise of all the traffic. If a shopping center was built on the very valuable Michigan Avenue frontage, then the senior citizens would be within walking distance of everything they needed.

It seems that our elected officials are constantly looking for more revenue. Yet when they have a potential gold mine dumped in their laps they cannot see it. The proposed senior citizens' apartments would bring in the very minimum of revenues. Being built on Michigan Avenue would be of no advantage whatsoever. It would leave the senior citizens in an area with none of these commercial needs within walking distance. The Eloise Complex is a beautiful old setting. All of its charm would be lost during the wrecking of the old buildings and the construction of new ones.

So, if the old buildings are torn down I do believe the property well to the rear of the present complex would be much more suited to any type of housing, than the frontage of either Michigan Avenue or Merriman road.

If these road frontages were sold for commercial use they would command a high sale price. Then when developed they would bring in much more in taxes. With such wise use of public assets we could then provide much better facilities for our senior citizens.

One other consideration of such development. Many of our older citizens are easily confused. Living along a high traffic route would put a confused person in great danger. A commercial development buffer between the high traffic route and where the senior citizen lives would help to remove this danger.

Many of our senior citizens are shuttled away in some out of the way senior citizens home. Everything is too far away for them to go to. Therefore their minds whither away from nothing to do and nothing to think about. A close by shopping complex for them to wander about would prevent a lot of this.

A senior citizens complex alone at Merriman and Michigan would be very much like the poor farm and mental institution that proceeded it. The old people could set along Merriman road and be inspired by looking at the cemetery on the west side of Merriman Road. Due to the fact that I am no kid myself, I do believe our older citizens deserve better than that. I believe that our taxpayers deserve better use of public assets also.

Council on aging applauded

EDITOR — Three cheers to the Plymouth Council on Aging.

The Canton Senior Citizens would like to take this opportunity to wish you happy 5th Anniversary and to thank you for providing us with an IRS trained Tax Counselor.

We couldn't have made it through this tax season without our volunteer, Mr. Welsh. He was incredibly generous with his time and extremely congenial. Through his efforts almost 100 seniors were able to receive help in filling out all types of tax and credit forms.

We tip our hats to you, "Council on Aging," and wish you all great success for the next five years!

reflections

Faith and children

A group of us were sitting around the fire talking the other evening and we got to talking about faith. While the others were discussing their own personal views on the subject I watched the bright flames licking at the logs, each bright bit of color reaching out and touching tentatively and then in a final burst of energy, consuming the log.

I thought that that pretty well summed up faith. Reaching out tentatively and then finally consuming ... if one is lucky.

And I thought about the first test of faith which I experienced as a very small girl, and how it came to be that faith has been a part of my inner life ever since.

It happened one hot July day when we called the farm nestled close to Snake River our home. I was six years old and my little sister was almost five.

Mother was "heavy with child" and our father had things to do in the fields that could not be put off because it happened to be the Sabbath Day. My little sister and I begged to be allowed to walk to Sunday School, which was held in the one-room schoolhouse across the fields.

It was decided that we could go alone if we promised to take the lane to the highway and walk across the highway to the little dirt road which led to the schoolhouse.

"Do not cut across the pasture," our father said, and he repeated it several times to make sure we understood. "Old man Jensen's bull is in that pasture, and he is a mean one. So don't go through the pasture."

We promised we would stay close to the road and not go through the pasture, and after much hugging and kissing and making us repeat over and over what we would not do, they waved us off down the lane.

The dust rose up around our patent slippers, turning them a dirty gray, and our white half socks slid down into the heels of our shoes and mingled with the dust.

The sun beat down on our heads, and we took off our hats and carried them by their ribbons, while I, as the oldest, carried in my other hand the small white Bible.

"I'm hot," my little sister said as she brushed her curls off her forehead. "And I want a drink of water."

I told her that everyone was hot and we had to hurry.

"That grasshopper isn't hot," she answered and squatted down by the side of the road, the better to watch the grasshopper hop. "C'mon," I urged as I grabbed hold of her and dragged her away from her hopping interest.

I looked down the road and it seemed interminable. We would never get to Sunday School, and the heat made little waves of light move in circles before us. And then I looked across the pasture, where the green grass, and the big old tree with its welcoming shade, beckoned.

"Do you see the bull?" I asked my little sister.

"Nope," she answered.

"Then come on, let's cut across the pasture."

"We can't. Daddy said we can't."

"But he said on account of the bull, and I don't see any bull." So she let me push her over the fence and the green grass leaped up to welcome our hot feet, and the shade from the tree waved us on. We had almost reached that shade when my little sister grabbed me and began to cry.

"The bull, the bull ..." She pointed a trembling finger toward the farthest corner of the pasture. And there was the bull, lowering its head and pawing at the earth with its front feet.

"He's coming after us," she shrieked holding onto me, and jumping up and down. My heart leaped up in my throat, and I couldn't swallow. My knees shook and my teeth chattered.

"He's going to kill us, I know he's going to kill us," my little sister was now shaking me.

I looked over at the bull and he looked back at me, his baleful eyes slanting downwards as he lowered his head and made his move toward us. I pushed my little sister forward toward the far away fence.

"Run," I screamed. "Run!" "I can't run," she screamed back. "I'm scared ..."

The bull was moving in slow motion towards us, but I knew it wouldn't be long before he would get up momentum and charge us, and I knew that would be the end of us. And it served us right, I thought, because we had disobeyed. From somewhere inside of me I said the prayer I said every night before going to sleep, and as I said it I thought of the little Bible in my hand. I took another look at the bull. He was still coming. My little sister was still screaming. And I was still scared.

"Please, dear God," I prayed. "I'll never do what I'm not supposed to do ever again."

Opening the Bible as I finished my promise, my eyes lit on the verse that began "Fear not, for I am with thee ..."

I knew that was God talking to me. I closed the book, took my little sister's hand and led her towards the fence. I didn't dare glance back at the bull until I could touch the barbed wire, and as I lifted it for my little sister to crawl under, I looked back.

The bull had stopped under the tree and stood watching us, even as we crawled under the barbed wire and ran all of the rest of the way.

We had learned the lesson of faith ... we were safe.

MONA GRIGG

vironment, it's mighty hard from that point on, to convince those students that anyone is concerned with the state of their brains.

And it could be, too, that the motivation just isn't there. It used to be that a high school diploma practically guaranteed a decent job. It used to be that a college degree absolutely guaranteed a decent job. Nowadays, neither one guarantees anything. Students holding either a diploma or a degree can be found flipping patties at McDonalds right along with the kids who quit school to flip patties.

We're given 13 years in which to mold and shape those kids into intelligent, marketable adults. If it can't be done in that length of time, it's pretty silly to think a longer school day and a longer school year is all that's needed to make it happen.

private schools is nothing short of outrageous.

We were the first in the world to have free education for all children, regardless of their color, creed or social status. The fact that everyone was entitled to a free education guaranteed us the position as "the world's technological leader."

There is no question that public education in this country is in a sorry state, but to, in effect, allow only a select few to "get smarter" by encouraging costly, segregated private schools as a replacement for public education is to take away a basic human right: the right to learn.

If a child completes high school without knowing how to read well or to write well or to speak in words of more than one syllable it isn't because the school day was too short or because he or she didn't get enough homework or even because his or her teachers weren't paid enough.

The reasons why students are not learning are multitudinous and complex: It could be that the student's environment plays a large part. If all hell is breaking loose at home, it's difficult to convince that student that where Magellan was a few hundred years ago has some significance. On the other hand, there are students who come from stable homes overflowing with good books and stimulating conversation who have somehow tuned that whole scene out and have opted instead for oblivion.

It could be that, in the primary years, the teachers opted for the fun stuff instead of teaching the basics so necessary for understanding the lessons of later years. On the other hand, it's difficult to present the basics in a way that can compete with the sensory stimuli of "Star Wars" or "Pac Man" or even the Muppets.

And it could be that school loses its importance for children when they see their parents fighting tooth and nail against millage renewals that would guarantee a quality education for them.

And when parents turn down a bond issue that would have ensured the health and safety of their children by spending the money to eradicate deadly asbestos fibers from their en-

Which way to excellence?

About that report from the National Commission on Excellence in Education: I agree that we should pay higher teacher salaries; I agree that there is a "rising tide of mediocrity" in the public school system; I agree that students should be given a well-rounded basic education; I also agree that, along with higher pay, teachers should be held accountable. (There should be no question about "getting rid of" poor teachers.)

But the recommendation about lengthening the school year at the same time the Federal government is attempting to pull out of supporting public education, thus leaving the cost of the longer school year for the states to bear is nothing short of asinine.

And for our president to say in one breath that "We're still the world's technological leader, but to be stronger we have to get smarter", and then in another breath to say, "We'll continue to work for tuition tax credits, vouchers, educational savings accounts, and abolishing the Department of Education", thus dealing a death blow to public education in order to promote

Spotlight on Romulus schools

Here's what's going on in Romulus schools this week, and what's been happening over the past two weeks:

WICK ELEMENTARY

By Seema Chackunkal, Winston Folmar, Laura McClure, Craig Mulenga, Donald Pochmard, Kelly Sandefur, and Dale Simler.

On April 27, the sixth grade classes at Wick went on a bus trip to Lansing to tour the Capitol building, which was huge. The students were divided into several groups and assigned a chaperone. When we went in everyone was full of amazement at the height of the building.

Our guide around the Capitol was our State Representative, Edward E. Mahalak. He showed us a showcase full of flags from the civil war and other battles. The flags had blood stains and some were ripped up.

One of the most spectacular sights was the view of the dome from the first floor of the rotunda. The doorknobs and chandeliers are very valuable and the chandelier is made of copper, one of Michigan's leading metals.

It was exciting to see the pictures of the governors, judges, and legislators. The staircases were beautifully carved. There were balconies on the upper floors where you could look down at the people below.

Wick School Fifth Graders

Visit Toronto

On Thursday, April 21, 47 fifth graders, eight parent-chaperones and two teachers traveled from Romulus to Toronto, Ontario.

The students had planned carefully for this trip throughout the school year. Most had participated in candy sales, using their profits toward their fare.

The group traveled first by Romulus school buses to the VIA Canada Rail Station in Windsor. From there, they traveled by train to the busy metropolis of Toronto. Their adventures in this city included a bus sightseeing tour, a visit to historic Casa Loma and a supper at the Spaghetti Factory on the Esplanade. After an overnight at the Carlton Inn in downtown Toronto, the group spent most of the following day at the Ontario Science Center.

The fifth grades again boarded the VIA Canada train for their return trip on Friday, April 22. To date, there hasn't been a complaint filed; all had a wonderful time.

DEPARTMENTALIZATION

The departmentalized program at Haiti and Merriman Elementary Schools draw high marks from principals Michael Fodor and Daniel Murray.

Departmentalization is the term used for fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students from both schools who start their day with homeroom and reading class in the morning, then transfer to other classrooms and teachers for science, social studies, and math.

The departmental concept was introduced by Fodor, who was educated in a similar program when he was an elementary student. Murray was interested in participating and together, the principals developed the program which was implemented in the fall of 1981.

The program at Merriman differs in that it has more students, and involves more teachers. Both principals agree that departmentalized programming challenges students to meet higher expectations and do more work, and that the classes are more structured. The limited class periods teach students time management skills needed to satisfactorily grasp the day's lesson.

In an informal evaluation, students, parents, and teachers expressed enthusiasm for the concept. Students liked the idea of changing classes and thought they were less boring.

Teachers feel the program allows them to be better prepared to teach their students because they deal primarily with a subject which appeals to them, and their lesson plans are easier to prepare since they are dealing with few subjects.

Students carry their books and materials with them at Merriman because they do not have lockers to store their things when they are not needed. Murray felt that the lack of a mothering relationship could create learning problems for less mature students, but thinks the Merriman's self-contained fourth-grade classroom effectively eliminates any potential problem. Fodor felt the Haiti students adjusted well to their schedules and did not need such a relationship.

Fodor says the program provides a more efficient use of the school's space. Both Fodor and Murray feel the students are better prepared to enter junior high school when they leave the sixth grade.

CORY SCHOOL

Cory Students Founding Fathers and Mothers

Fourth and fifth graders have taken over the classrooms of Carrie Norwood and Mattye Green and declared it their own "Greenwood Country".

The students have issued "diamond dust" as the national currency, designed a flag, and elected a central government.

Some of the students set up their own business, while others offered a service for pay.

An auction was held on April 29th to use the students' earnings from their business operations, and students bought items which were contributed by Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Green.

The teachers chose this project as an economics education unit. The purpose is to guide students through career awareness, orientation, and exploration. This unit introduces the world of work to students with the hope that it will stimulate their interest to learn as well as provide accurate information on a variety of everyday careers which the students might encounter in their own lives.

The Cory Parent-Teacher Organization will hold a general membership meeting on Wednesday, May 20 at 7 p.m. in the library. This month the PTO will hold its election of officers for the 1983-83 school year. All members are urged to attend.

Cory's school fair will be held on Saturday, June 4. The theme this year is space — Super Heroes. Donations of cakes and other baked goods and craft items are needed for the cake walk and craft sale. Volunteers are also needed for the day of the fair.

HALE CREEK

Science Treasure Hunt

Now that warm weather has arrived, science class for Halecreek fourth graders moved outside. A "Nature Awareness" program had the children trying to round up many natural items that signaled spring. A wild flower (dandelion), a young weed, a new blade of grass, the newly opened bud on a tree were just a few of the items collected to give the children, in teams of four and supervised by volunteer parents, a chance to observe the change in their natural world.

One item given hearty approval by all concerned was the 10 pieces of litter each team had to collect. This not only helped a little in cleaning up the area, but also made the students aware of the ugliness of litter.

HALECREEK FOURTH GRADE

To top off a study of electricity and magnetism, Timothy Baron, a father of one 4th grader, came to Halecreek School to demonstrate the flow of electricity through the use of several meters. He also showed how electrical fields can be used for magnetic properties and, reversely, how a magnet going between wires can make electricity. His presentation resulted in several students returning home to try to make simple electromagnets using a nail, a wire and a flashlight battery.

READING FOR SEEING

Through use of a special offer from a metropolitan newspaper, the 4th grade students at Halecreek used both a newspaper and the accompanying script for several lessons during the week.

Reading class used the scripts to look at play format, how color affects mood and how music contributes to the setting of the scene. At the conclusion of a week long discussion of the play, students Justin Jones, Ricky Rogala, Heather Baron, Denise Heptinstall, Danny Hardy, Wendy Hopper, Nancy Dingman, Mary McEwen and Tom Anderson video taped the play before school started.

The video tape was played by the students with a discussion of music and color effects compared with the play as seen on television.

The science section was used for a lesson in current science.

The front section of the newspaper was used for a lesson in current social studies. The newspapers and scripts were paid for by the teacher.

LOGO/SLOGAN CONTEST

Wayne County is the subject of a logo and slogan contest for students in the fifth and sixth grades. Each student who entered the contest submitted an original slogan and a logo which says that Wayne County is a good place to work and live.

Classroom winners receive a McDonalds lunch and three finalists receive a $5 cash award. Prizes were contributed by the Halecreek P.T.G. The overall county winner will receive a grand prize of $100 courtesy of William Lucas, Wayne County Executive.

Judges for the contest were James Applebee, Loraine Wilkerson and Mary Ann Banks.

Contest Winners: are Adam Wick, Joey Zurawski, Michele Duprey — Finalists,

Also competing: Eugene Majcher, Pam O'Connor, Randy Demmy, Sean Ledford, Wendy King, Crystal Lippard, Kristy Manson, Shelly Grames, Jenny Donathan, Jeff Warner, Chris Labiak, Maurice Windham, and Kenny Stewart.

The three finalists entries will be sent to the Wayne County Intermediate School District to be included in the county-wide contest for the grand prize of $100.

SPELLING BEE

All fifth and sixth grade students will participate in the annual classroom spelling bee contest.

The top three spellers from each classroom will compete in the school-wide spelling contest May 20. These spellers will be awarded a certificate of participation and the two finalists on May 20 will receive trophies. All awards are provided by the Halecreek P.T.G.

The Halecreek Parent-Teacher Guild will meet on Thursday, May 5 at 7 p.m. On the agenda will be a discussion of the sixth grade graduation ceremonies, the Romulus Wheeler-Dealer game, and computers for the classrooms.

MERRIMAN SCHOOL

The Merriman Parent-Teacher Association will hold its monthly meeting on May 11, at 7 p.m.

• The fifth and sixth graders will hold its annual Mothers Day flower sale on May 5 and 6. The flower sale chairman is Mindy Oglebee.

• Merriman's annual school fair will be held on May 20 from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

Students will be competing in a poster contest for the school fair. Winners will receive free fair tickets.

ROMULUS JUNIOR HIGH

Suzanne DiPiazza's second hour English class has entered the 17th annual Detroit Edison safety contest.

The contest is open to seventh through twelfth grades and promotes safety when performing tasks around electricity, electrical outlets, electric wires and electrical installations.

Students Rod Cooper, Joe Custer, Scott Harris, Tim Haste, William Melchor, Paul Reynolds, Roscoe Smith, Burch Spicer, and Victor Stoddard developed and taped a radio commercial dealing with safety work or play activities around electricity, electrical outlets, or electrical installations.

The grand prize will consist of having a commercial played on a radio station of the students choice. Winners will be asked to visit Detroit Edison headquarters to re-tape their commercial.

The class enjoyed the experience and are hopeful that their entry will be the winning commercial.

BARTH SCHOOL

On Friday, April 22 Mrs. Caroyne Acker's E.I. classroom from Barth School presented "The Giving Tree", a play by Silverstein. Students designed the scenery, memorized their lines and presented the play to the students and teachers of Barth School.

The students who participated were Lance Townsend, Mark Wylie, Richard Stockdale, Chris Vinson, Kurt Burmeister, Jeff Caretto, Jamie Syppula, Jay Oleksyn, and Billy Wells.

• The play "Kids on the Block" was performed for the students at Barth. The subjects of retardation and child abuse were presented as the theme for the puppets, who used conversation and dialogue to relay to students an idea of the special problems that go with these handicaps.

'College for a Day'

Students to view a 'mock crime'

High school students will have the opportunity to observe forensic scientists investigate a mock crime scene and gather evidence in one of the sample college classes to be presented when Mercy College of Detroit sponsors its "College for a Day" program, Friday, May 13.

High school students will be able to experience a taste of college life by selecting from a variety of special classes taught by Mercy's faculty and designed to introduce students to areas of study they may be considering.

Introductory classes in Business, Computer Science, Medical Ethics, Medical Technology, Pre-law, Respiratory Care, and Social Work will also be given.

Other sessions will focus on financing a college education and forecasting job opportunities for the '80s.

"College for a Day" will begin at 9 a.m. with registration in the Mercy College Conference Center.

Sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m. and continue until 2 p.m. with a break at noon for lunch. Admission to the program is free for high school students and their parents; a buffet lunch and sundae bar will be available at $3.50 per person.

Mercy College of Detroit is located at 8200 W. Outer Drive, at the Southfield Freeway, just south of Seven Mile Road, in Detroit.

For reservations, and for additional information, call the Admissions Office at (313) 592-6030.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

INFECTION FOLLOWING SURGERY

If you undergo any kind of an operation in a hospital, you normally spend time in "recovery" where you are carefully cared for to insure no "post-op" infection develops. A dentist does not have this luxury (nor does the patient). If a surgical procedure is done (such as an extraction), the patient normally leaves the office with verbal or printed instructions about what to do or not to do to prevent infection and promote healing. If you ignore the instructions, you may be flirting with the possibility of post-procedure infection.

Signs of infection would be pain, swelling, and perhaps a feverish feeling. Swelling after surgery doesn't necessarily mean you have an infection, as some swelling is normal. But if it keeps getting bigger, feels warm and firm and is painful, see your dentist immediately.

He may put you on an antibiotic, or he may have to open and clean out your wound. Do not take the attitude that it will probably get better by itself. It may, but if it doesn't, it's going to be harder and longer to treat later.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of: SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville. Phone 697-4400.

9.9%

Annual Percentage Rate

Last year, Ford Motor Company achieved the highest quality rating of any major American car or truck maker.*

Simple logic leads to the conclusion that the best way to measure the quality of anybody's 9.9% annual percentage rate program is to measure the quality of their cars and trucks.

Get 9.9% financing on new Ford small cars.

That includes popular Escort and sporty two-seat EXP. Superior technology and ride quality have made these among America's favorite small cars.

Get 9.9% financing on tough Ford Ranger.

When you purchase any new Ranger except 4x2 gas engine models built before December 1, 1982, you get the 9.9% annual percentage rate.

And that's just the beginning.

As an incentive to buyers who want and need larger cars and trucks, Ford is sponsoring special annual percentage rates that can save you hundreds of dollars over the period you finance your purchase.

If you finance for 12 to 36 months,** you'll get an 11.9% annual percentage rate on any new LTD and Mustang.

If you finance for 48 months, you'll get an annual percentage rate of 12.9%.*

Great deals for truck buyers, too.

The same annual percentage rates of 11.9% for 12 to 36 month contracts and 12.9% for 48 month contracts apply to new light conventional trucks (excluding 6.9 diesels), to new 4x2 gas engine Rangers built before December 1, 1982, and to new Broncos and the all-new Bronco II.

The cash alternative.

If you're a cash buyer, you will receive a check for $300 direct from Ford when you purchase any new Escort, Mustang or EXP.

Some fine print.

You must order your new Ford vehicle from a participating dealer before April 30, 1983. Or take delivery of a new car or truck from stock by May 31, 1983. There is a limit of one per qualified retail buyer and dealer contribution may affect customer savings. See your authorized dealer for details.

* Based on a comparison of three major U.S. auto makers by an independent research firm of 11,000 new car and light truck owners. Study was based on things gone wrong three months after purchase on 1982 model cars and trucks. ** Example of a typical contract with a total cash price of $10,000 with a $2,000 down payment. Your monthly payment would be $265.33 for 36 months at 11.9% A.P.R. or $214.22 for 48 months at 12.9% A.P.R.

Filer, Couch repeat vows in early April ceremony

Arrangements of fresh spring blooms and silk flowers graced the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Ann Arbor as Carol Helen Couch and Bert Earl Filer II exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands.

Bro. Robert A. Mattis presided at the April 2 ceremony at four o'clock in the afternoon with some 300 relatives and friends in attendance.

Piano music was played by Christine Hall and sung by Mrs.

Charles Couch, sister-in-law of the bride.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Couch of South Circle Drive, Ann Arbor, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Carrying an all-white arrangement of silk roses, mini-carnations, lilies of the valley, daisies and baby's breath, she appeared in a gown of sheer dotted swiss over silk taffeta. Designed in the Victorian mode, the dress featured a high lace collar, ruffled illusion bodice, long sheer sleeves and a chapel train, all embellished with Chantilly lace.

Completing her ensemble was a fingertip veil of silk illusion which drifted from a headband of silk lilies of the valley.

The honor attendant, Mrs. Thomas Monahan of Ann Arbor, was in a pastel blue gown styled with an empire bodice, long clear sleeves and a double flounce at the bottom of the hooped skirt. She wore a wreath of flowers in her hair and held a bouquet of multi-colored silk flowers.

The trio of bridesmaids in identical outfits of pink, orchid and yellow, respectively, were Elizabeth Couch of Ann Arbor and Debbie Filer of Romulus, sisters of the bridal couple; and Mariann Stafford of Ann Arbor.

Three-year-old Alicia Couch was the petite flower girl at her aunt's wedding. She donned a little peach-colored frock and carried a smaller version of the senior attendants' bouquets.

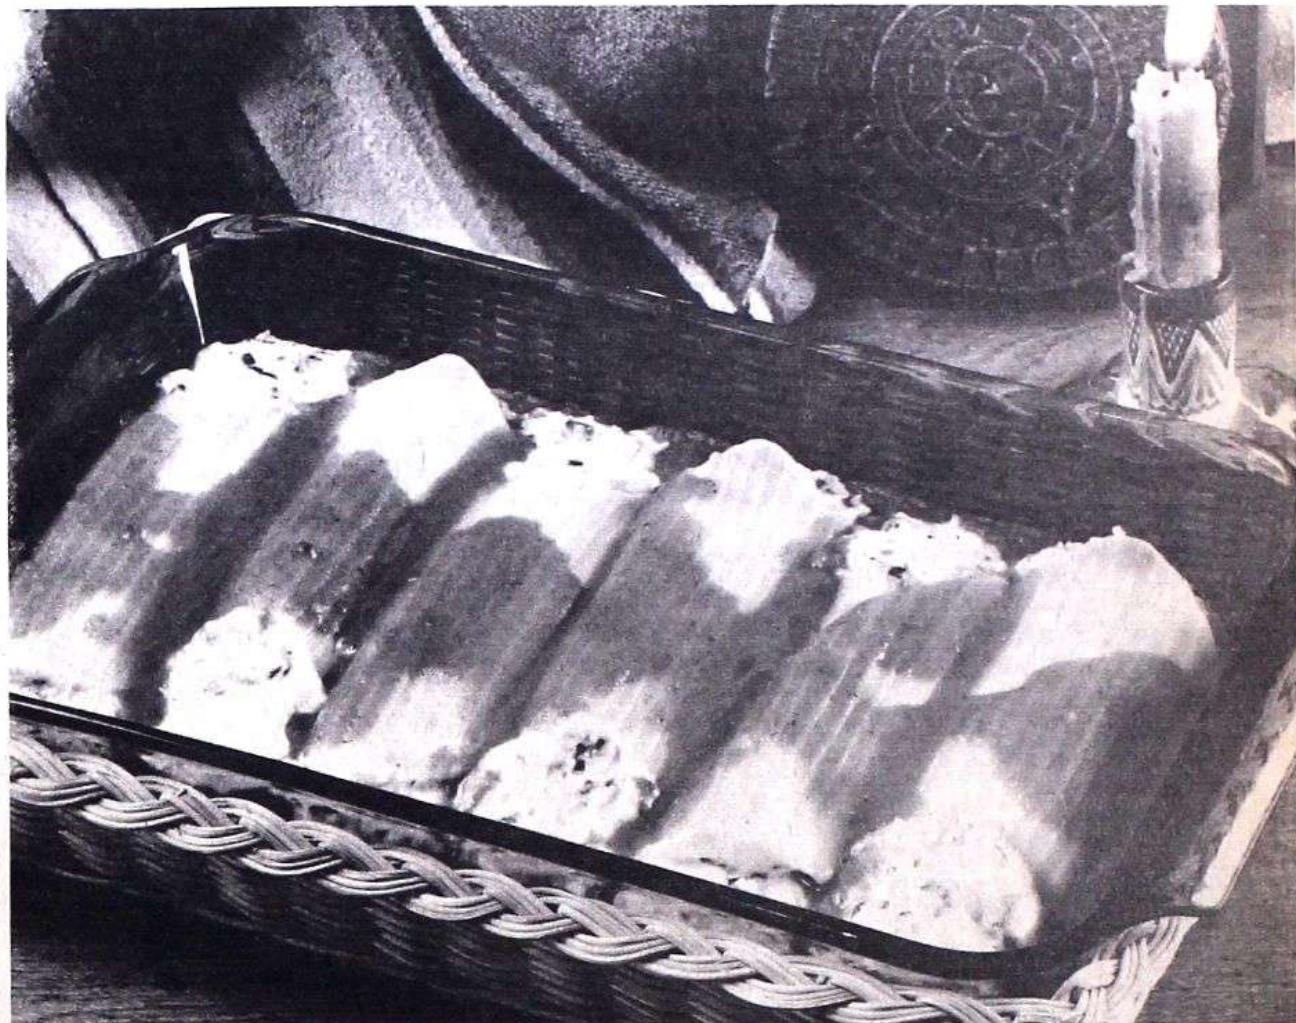

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Filer of Brandt street, Romulus, the bridegroom asked Thomas Monahan of Ann Arbor to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Charles Couch and Michael Couch of Ann Arbor, brothers of the bride, and Edward Freysinger of Belleville.

Following their reception at the Ann Arbor Armory, where the rehearsal dinner had also been hosted by the D.E. Filers, the newlyweds departed for a week-long honeymoon at Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

The new Mrs. Filer, a 1979 graduate of Pioneer High School, is employed at the Holiday Inn-West Bank in Ann Arbor. Her husband, a 1978 alumnus of Belleville High School who attended Motech in Livonia, is employed at Jac Products in Ann Arbor.

MR. AND MRS. BERT E. FILER II

Manicotti, a pasta usually associated with Italian cooking, lends itself well to Mexican seasoning. In this entree created by home economists at Gebhardt Mexican Foods Co., the manicotti filling of cheese, spinach and eggs gets a welcome boost from chili powder and enchilada sauce.

Mexican manicotti

Peasant cookery the world over is noted for its use of inexpensive ingredients — with results often tastier than the efforts of famous gourmet chefs. Home economists of Gebhardt Mexican Foods Company have drawn on the "people's cuisines" of both Mexico and Italy for Mexican Manicotti, which features a delicate blend of cheese, spinach and eggs with just the right touch of that South of the Border seasoning favorite, chili powder. Serve Mexican Manicotti with a tossed green salad or fresh fruit.

Mexican Manicotti

(8 servings)

16 pieces manicotti macaroni
2 pounds ricotta or well-drained small curd cottage cheese

½ cup shredded Monterey Jack cheese
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ cup well drained, cooked chopped spinach
3 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon Gebhardt's Chili Powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

1 can (10 oz.) Gebhardt's Enchilada Sauce
Cook manicotti in boiling salted water 6 to 8 minutes. Drain; cool rapidly with cold water. Drain well. Blend together all remaining ingredients except enchilada sauce. Fill manicotti pieces with mixture; place in greased baking dish. Pour enchilada sauce over manicotti. Cover with aluminum foil and bake in preheated 400-degree oven for 15 to 25 minutes, until heated through. Let stand, uncovered, 15 minutes before serving.

New on the scene

Corey James Manning

"Corey James" is the title chosen for the new son born April 17 to Mark and Ann Marie Manning of 45105 Paris Dr., Belleville. The 6lb.-10 oz. newcomer, who measured 13½ inches, arrived at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti at four in the morning.

The new baby brother of Katie Manning, who's 1½ years old, Corey is the grandson of Roy and Marge Manning and Peggy Balestrieri, all of Belleville, and the late Tony Balestrieri.

His proud great-grandparents, also Belleville residents, are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Manning. A great-great-grandmother, Clara Mac Key, resides in New Boston.

Corey's mother is the former Ann Marie Balestrieri.

Recognition dinner

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council held its first Recognition Dinner April 19 at Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor. Adult volunteers were honored for their service to the organization.

Among those presented with the "Presidential Goal Award", the highest award in Girl Scouting, for outstanding leadership with her troops, was Helen Teal of Belleville, leader of Senior-Cadette Troop 711.

Leaders Day observed

A surprise party honoring Brownie Troop 471 leaders, Cherrisse Filbert and Lynda Russo, was held April 22 at the home of Gail Howard, committee mother, in Romulus.

In conjunction with Girl Scout Leaders Day, the get-together featured two oversize poster board cards for each of the honorees which the Brownies had made using pictures of the troop's various activities. Each of the girls also signed the card and wrote a personal letter telling why they enjoyed being in Brownies.

Girl Scout Leaders Day had been slated for April 22 by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council to honor the many volunteers who head Brownie, Cadette and Senior troops.

potpourri

By Lee Smith
Suburban Living Editor

Lest some of you forget, Mother's Day — the occasion when Americans all join in tribute to the leading ladies in their lives — is Sunday. The observance will be 70 years old on May 10.

Credit (or blame, either way you view it) for the recognition to mothers is given to a Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, who lost her mother on May 9, 1906. Determined that a day be set aside to honor motherhood, she formed a league of supporters and, by persistent lobbying, and what amounted to emotional blackmail (anyone who opposed her did not love his mother), Miss Jarvis quickly had her way.

After one year's campaign, Philadelphia observed her day, and on May 10, 1913, the House of Representatives solemnly passed a resolution making the second Sunday in May a national observance, dedicated to the memory of "the best mother in the world, your mother."

Actually, (we learned through the Morris Dictionary) a somewhat similar tradition had existed in England for more than three centuries. The fourth Sunday in Lent was known as "Mothering Sunday" and apprentices and daughters "in service" were permitted by their masters to return home for the day. It was their custom to bring a gift, often a bunch of posies or a small cake. Sometimes, they even showed their affection for their mother by doing the housework on this day.

As a result of what some English call the "American Occupation" of Britain during World War II, the ancient tradition of Mothering Sunday became confused with Mother's Day. Today the Yankee version, complete with cards and specially inscribed cakes and boxes of candy, is observed throughout Great Britain.

A more cynical view of the proceedings is taken by Brower's Dictionary which explains Mother's Day as (1) The second Sunday in May, an unofficial holiday conceived in sentiment and dedicated to promoting the sales of flowers and greeting cards. (2) In New York City's inner sections, the day on which the mailman delivers the welfare checks. (So called because most welfare payments are for aid to dependent children.)

A footnote added to the second version continues: Easily negotiable and usually arriving in a single mail delivery that floods the inner city with money, such checks are regularly stolen from the mailboxes, the flow of cash causing a festive surge in spending, gambling, drinking, drug use, street crime and crimes of passion.

Mother's Day, one of the most highly advertised of gift-giving events, is said to be the busiest day of the year for dining out. And — if you've been that route over the years, you're aware it's most likely to also be the biggest letdown. Food, service and timing are notoriously poor and border on either production line (slap it at 'em) systems or the I-o-n-g-e-s-t day (let 'em wait) routine.

Because of disappointments time and again, I'd requested that we not eat out on Mother's Day. So last year, my daughters-three put their ideas and skills together and came up with a delightful brunch right here at home.

This season, I'm one step ahead of the rest of you mamas and have already been wined, dined and gifted. Having had the Illinois contingent in this past weekend for pre-wedding festivities, we gathered for a combination Mother's Day-Carol's birthday celebration with our bride-elect and husband-to-be hosting brunch. And — for a gal who never had the least interest in the culinary arts, she produced a seafood quiche which put me to shame. (This being a Mother's Day column, I'm taking maternal license and bragging about my family a bit.)

Adding to that the privileges of grand motherhood before I turn "potpourri" over to other subjects, I'd like to share our almost-4-year-old Matt's remarks as he prepared to return to Glenview.

"Thank you, Grandma, for buying me the little car and for taking me out to eat... and... now will you come with me so I can ask my Mom what else I was supposed to say?"

Families are without a doubt the foundations of our lives. But — what would we ever do without our friends? If you're anywhere near as lucky as we, you, too, have been blessed with some of the finest, most understanding, most enjoyable of friendships.

And when those very people extend themselves above and beyond to your children, it can leave a rather big lump in the throat and tingly feeling in the chest. If I sound a bit soupy (corny, schmaltzy) that's exactly the mood I'm in. You'll read no apologies either since I know every one of my counterparts (all you mothers, mommies, grannies, grannies, nanas) can identify with my sentiments. If you're kind to our children, you have paid us the ultimate in compliments.

COMMENTS ON COLUMNS

Although we don't always get written responses to these weekly columns, we do hear from you readers vocally — in person or on the telephone. Here're a few recent "potpourris" on which we received feedbacks.

RE: The four ayam story. "I never had trouble sleeping until I read about your problems. Now I can't sleep either!" (Would you believe "it" has advanced itself to a two ayam position?)

Also on the same subject a lovely lady suggested I use her remedy: get myself a little radio, keep it under my pillow and either let it lull me to sleep or learn some interesting late-night news while fighting those insomniac villains.

Others have suggested Somnifex, good books, trying to make my mind completely blank (it doesn't work — I lie there thinking about not thinking), a glass of wine, valium and a few ideas that might get an "X" rating from the censor's bureau.

RE: The story on my car problems. "It was so good to read something positive for a change. We never hear about all the good things people do nad it's about time we did."

"You're lucky — maybe it was your location — but I waited on I-94 for nearly an hour before anyone even slowed down when my car conked out."

RE: Having my grandson for 11 days and loving it. "You're lucky! It must be nice to look forward to seeing grandchildren. Mine are here so much that they've taken the fun out of being a grandmother. It's like raising a second set of kids. I would love to have some time alone with my husband but I've let them get away with it for too long. I guess." (No Dear Abbey am I but why don't you set them straight?)

RE: The bridal registry bit. "Boy, did you hit the nail on the head! Just try to buy the dishes she registered for! Then try the silver (they're out of) the crystal (they discontinued) the pots and pans (that are on order). That's why I usually give money anymore!"

"Hudson's registry is a farce anymore. My daughter's china was discontinued halfway between her showers and wedding day." (I know! Then there's the bride-to-be's name! Try "Susan Smith" on for size. There are three S.S.'s on file at the moment and they don't always check to see which of the three you're requesting. I was alerted to this and "tested" the registrars myself but didn't have that problem, fortunately.)

Finally — to the couple (Mr. and Mrs. D.) we met on the dance floor at the recent Kiwanis President's Ball: Hey, I haven't come down to earth yet from all that flattery. Thank you for introducing yourselves and for those wonderful ego-boosting comments. Wow!

THE BOTTOM LINE: To understand your parents' love, you must raise children yourself. (A Chinese proverb.)

September Days — coming events

Birthday party

Several interesting, and enjoyable events are on the upcoming calendar for September Days Senior Citizens. For early May, "Crime Prevention for Senior Citizens" will be presented by a qualified police officer.

The May 9 talk at 12:45 p.m. will highlight the May birthday party at the Senior Center in the Van Buren Township Hall on Tyler Road.

It is important for every older American to be aware of the crime in a community, how to prevent it and how to protect oneself from becoming a victim.

All citizens over 50 years of age are invited to attend.

Gadabouts Travel Club

The monthly meeting of the Gadabouts Travel Club will be held at 2 p.m. May 15 at the Senior Center. Since this is a potluck gathering, those attending are to bring a dish to pass as well as their own table service.

Following dinner, filmed previews of the Great Golden Western Adventure will be shown. All those 50 or older are invited to join in this Sunday treat of pleasant company, good food and adventure.

It's billed "Flamenco Fanny's"

A special evening of dining and entertainment await all September Days Senior Citizens and their guests when "Flamenco Fanny's", a spring extravaganza, is held Monday, May 17, at the Belle Plaza Hall on Sumpter Road.

The 5:30 p.m. dinner date will be a novel and unique experience for those attending. Live entertainment and door prizes promise to make this a party long to be remembered. Those wishing to dress in Spanish costumes for the occasion are welcome to do so since they will certainly add to the festivities.

September Days members may invite friends to this special evening. The charge is $7 per person or $12 per couple. Since seating is limited, members are urged to make reservations as soon as possible. Tickets may be picked up at the Senior Center in the Van Buren Township Hall. No tickets will be sold at the door.

For further information on any of the above events, call 699-7474.

Historic home tour scheduled for May 14-15 in Tecumseh

This is the eighth year Tecumseh has opened its doors for visitors to take a unique look inside private historic homes. Through the efforts of the Tecumseh Area Historic Society with support of the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce and hundreds of volunteer citizens May 14 and 15, from 12-6 p.m. will be tour times for 10 historic structures and special displays. Tickets will also allow holders to visit the Designer house after the regular tour till May 22 from 12-6 p.m.

Tickets are available in advance for a donation of $3 each. During the tour they will be $4 with students under 18 years $3. Proceeds for the tour will be used for restoration of the Tecumseh Area Museum (tour headquarters). The stone church was purchased in 1982, tile roof replaced and tower and exterior remodeled with $70,000 in donated funds. That much or more is needed before it can be put to use as a museum.

Tecumseh has always been proud of its heritage and contributions to the growth of our Nation and State since its founding in 1824. Located in the southeastern part of Michigan in Lenawee County its population is 7300 with approximately 30,000 residents in the rural areas and centers surrounding it.

Twenty-six members and adults of Belleville Assembly #49, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, attended the Orange Ray picnic at Willow Metropark on Sunday, April 24.

Other assemblies attending were Ypsilanti #20; Wayne #42; Monroe #25; Trenton #37; Wyandotte #85; Dearborn #3 and Architect #39. Ray members enjoyed the meal, exercising, games, a trip to the Nature Center and a nature hike. Chairman of the Day's activities was Past Grand Worthy Advisor Roberta Welt of Belleville.

Attending her own Ray activity was Grand Worthy Advisor, Martha Pipok from Architect #39.

Edgar and Pauline Quinley, who recently returned from a vacation in Florida, spent the weekend camping at Camp McGregor at the Jackson County 4-H grounds.

Former Belleville residents, Liz and Walt James, were in the area visiting relatives and friends this past week. They now reside in Tazewell, Tenn.

Jim and Brian Anglium have returned from a spring vacation to Florida where they visited their grandparents.

Rose and Denise Welt travelled along with Mrs. Linda Freimann of Roseville and Connie and Martha Pipok of Bedford to attend a Rainbow Way of Life ceremony at Bedford Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, on Thursday, April 21. Bedford is located just outside Battle Creek.

Patricia and Rodney Helton celebrated their first wedding anniversary with a quiet dinner at home.

Also celebrating an anniversary — their 34th — in the same manner on April 23 were Roberta and J.D.

Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Halcomb are visiting their son and wife, Marvin and Kathy Halcomb, and two grandsons, Christopher Ryan and Matthew Grant, for a few weeks. Matthew will be 1-year-old May 5 and they had to be here for the occasion. They plan a party for him with plenty of cake and ice cream.

Demon Drop

Construction crews are putting the final touches on the Demon Drop, a $2.5 million ride scheduled to open at Cedar Point on May 15 when the park begins its 114th season. The Demon Drop, which is the park's 57th ride, will feature a 60-foot plunge from the top of a 131-foot tower. During the entire drop of 99 feet, cars reach a speed of 55 miles per hour in 2.5 seconds. The amusement park is located in Sandusky, Ohio.

Americans favor 'E.T.'

"Gandhi" won the Academy Award as Best Picture of the Year, but "E.T." was the personal choice of more Americans, according to a recent national survey. Some 32 percent of those polled by telephone chose "E.T." for the coveted best picture award, compared to 17 percent for "Gandhi," 12 percent for "Tootsie," 8 percent for "The Verdict," and less than .5 percent for "Missing." A substantial 31 percent voiced no opinion in the study, conducted under the supervision of Audits and Surveys, Inc. and sponsored by Merit Cigarettes. The strongest votes for "E.T." came from the young and those with incomes under $15,000 while "Gandhi" proved most popular among those earning more than $25,000 annually, although the film failed to surpass "E.T." in any sociological or financial category.

'Pinocchio' on stage

New York's award-winning Nicolo Marionettes will perform "Pinocchio" on stage for Detroit Youththeatre's "Something Every Saturday" family audiences on May 7. Performances will be given at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium/theatre. Most often seen in animated film or in a legitimate stage production, "Pinocchio" will be performed by the Nicolo company using wooden marionettes, recapturing the story's original form. In a fairy tale verse style, incorporating audience participation, "Pinocchio" follows the world's most famous puppet in his adventures with The Cat and The Fox, The Jolly Coachman, The Undersea Animals, and The Boobies of Boobyland. Special sound and lighting effects are combined with a fast-paced musical score to enhance this production of the ages-old story which has been a favorite of generations of children. This presentation was especially created for families with young people five years of age and older. Children younger than five years will not be admitted to their theatre. Tickets at $2.50 for children and adults, or $1.75 each in groups of ten or more, may be purchased in advance through the Art Institute ticket office, and at the door. Youththeatre also offers a season discount pass for ten admissions at $17.50 for any selection of Youththeatre's Saturday presentations. For ticket information

Some restaurant owners scoff at the mere suggestion that a fast food operation can produce quality entrees. Then again, they've probably never visited China Kitchen at Four Seasons Square in Plymouth.

After nearly four decades in the restaurant business, Howard Chune is proving daily that fast food can be good food. His China Kitchen is one of 15 cafes located under one roof at 540 South Main.

"The setting here is good," noted Chune. "Service is fast and simple... there's no long wait. And everything on the menu is economical."

Quite an understatement since China Kitchen only offers one entree priced over $3, the Oriental shish kabob ($3.89). Most offerings cost $2.89, including almond chicken, teriyaki chicken, Szechwan spicy chicken, sweet and sour pork, pepper steak and beef with beef with broccoli. All are served with fried rice.

A closer look at the menu shows beef chow mein, chicken chop suey and chicken lo mein at $2.69 as well as egg foo young and sweet and sour won ton at $2.29. Of course, such traditional Chinese favorites as egg rolls, fried rice, won ton soup and egg drop soup also are featured.

Although the portions may be somewhat smaller than one is accustomed to in many Chinese establishments, the price of meals rates nearly one-half the normal rate. And pocketbook watchers will find the portions substantial enough.

Current specials highlight the Kitchen's quality egg rolls, which have been reduced to 69 cents apiece; $3.90 for a half dozen, and $7.44 per dozen. Those who purchase an entree, egg roll and beverage will be treated to a free serving of egg drop or won ton soup.

Visitors to China Kitchen can dine in the spacious center court at Four Seasons Square that overlooks the various cafes. Located in downtown Plymouth, this facility is geared to the family with a variety of foods, beverages, games, entertainment and special events.

China Kitchen

Fast food dining is proving economical

China Kitchen remains open from 11 a.m. till 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. Carry out orders can be placed by calling 455-6710.

"There's a trend to fast food these days," said Chune, a native of China who now resides in Westland. "By cutting our overhead we can offer almond chicken at $2.89... almond chicken costs between $5 and $6 at most places." Catering is also a large part of Chune's business, with meals available for groups ranging from 20 to 300 persons. Selections include Cantonese and Szechwan dishes.

Food preparation is a family affair at China Kitchen in Plymouth's Four Seasons Square. Handling the daily operations at this economically priced cafe are Donna

Run offers free flight tickets for 2

Participants in the Romulus Community Pride 10-K Run on May 14 will be eligible to win a free round-trip air flight for two, race director Dennis Davidson announced.

Those who participate in the run will be included in a drawing for the two tickets to any of the 160 domestic locations offered by Republic Airlines. A weekend for two at the Holidome in the Airport Holiday Inn also will be presented to a runner. Pre-registration fee is $3 (by May 12) and a $5 fee will be collected on race day. The race, which will kick-off Michigan Week activities in Romulus, will start at 9 a.m. in the downtown Romulus area and conclude on the athletic field behind the Community Education Building. Further information on the event may be obtained by contacting Davidson at 941-0666, ext. 254.

Bike Club organized in Westland

The Westland Parks and Recreation Department will celebrate American Bike Month by holding its first organizational meeting of its Bicycling Club at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 31, at the Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road.

Club activities will include social gatherings, lectures on bicycle safety, mapping and touring, information on races and leisure riding areas, group rides and much more.

Registration currently is being accepted for the department's popular Saturday Surprise program for the month of May, entitled "Sports Galore."

Children four years and older are invited to the two-hour program, held on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon at the Bailey Recreation Center.

May's line-up will include learning about a variety of sports, about bicycling and how sports can be fun. Cost will be $2.

To register for the Bicycling Club or the Saturday Surprise, contact the recreation department at 722-7620.

Dixon to headline boxing card

Golden Gloves champion Conrad Dixon of Inkster will headline the card at the 1983 Amateur Boxing Shows on May 13 and June 18 at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt, north of Michigan Ave.

A number of Golden Gloves titlists and runner ups will be spotlighted with bouts to begin at 8 p.m.

The program is geared to promoting the talents of potential future champions.

Tickets, priced at $8 ringside; $6 general admission, and $3 for those 12 years of age and under, can be purchased at the Recreation Complex or by calling 728-7530.

Rains can't stop Wayne at relays

Zebras present first year coach with championship

Wayne Memorial served notice on Saturday in the form of a strong performance at its annual relays that the Zebras are a power to contend with this season in track & field.

First year coach Robert Lynn's team captured six of the 14 events in retaining the title the Zebras won a year ago. This year, instead of the sun and warm weather, Wayne and a field of 10 area teams, were forced to compete in a continuous downpour of rain.

"It was probably the only element that spoiled the relays," Coach Lynn said. "Rain came down continuously during the entire meet, however, we did manage to get the meet in."

Despite the inclement weather, Wayne received an outstanding performance from its mile relay team made up of Duane Chandler, Tony Bass, Marvin Parnell and Shawn Boyer whose 3:30.3 for the event is among the top times in the area. They managed to nip a highly-regarded Cherry Hill foursome for first place in the grueling event.

Wayne came back and also won the 440-yard relay thanks to Marvin Parnell, Shawn Boyer, Hampton Lee and Bill Howard, turning in a 44.9 to beat Dearborn Heights Robichaud for the gold.

Robichaud, however, had the best sprinters in the field with Kevin Jackson and Ken Crawford who placed 1-2 in the 100-meter dash. Jackson was clocked in 10.9.

Belleville, which amassed 74½ points, finished runner-up to Wayne

(88) in the meet on the strength of excellent efforts by the Tigers' shuttle hurdle relay team which finished first with Rick Starr, Wayne Burney, Tony Loechie and Bill Armstrong.

Milt Wilcox holds baseball seminar

Detroit Tiger pitching ace Milt Wilcox and a group of Tiger players will be helping area youngsters improve their baseball skills on Thursday, May 5 when they hold a baseball seminar at the Wayne Ford Civic League field.

The field is located in Westland, 1661 N. Wayne Rd.

Wilcox along with John Wocken-fuss, Lynn Jones and hitting coach Gates Brown will be discussing the game's fundamentals including hitting, pitching and fielding from 6 to 9 p.m.

All interested persons are invited to take part.

There is a $10 per person registration fee for the seminar, and an autograph session will follow immediately afterwards. Twelve major league balls will be given out as door prizes.

Wilcox and some of his teammates also will be holding a Tiger Baseball Camp during the early weeks of July at the Wayne Ford Civic League for players, ages 8 to 16 in the area.

The camp will be staged July 8, 11, 12, 13 and 14, and participants again will be drilled on the fundamentals.

The camp costs $139 for participants, and each will receive a camp T-shirt, a Detroit Tiger baseball hat, an official autographed American League ball and two tickets to a Tiger baseball game.

For further information about the camp and the seminar contact Jerry Mijal at 722-2540 or write: Milt Wilcox Baseball Camp, 34235 Ford Road, Westland, Michigan 48185.

Figuring to be champs

Tamara (left) and Donna Chute, who skate out of the Inkster Ice Arena, are racking up impressive records as each has won gold medals at the Tri-State competition held at Kent State and also have earned 39 medals between them. The two sisters have been skating for 27 months and launched their competitive careers on the Thanksgiving weekend of 1981 and since that time have picked up 19 golds, five silvers and three bronze medals in their freestyle levels.

Zebras 3-0 in Great Lakes

Rains wipe out Wayne schedule

The rains wiped out Wayne Memorial's baseball team and Coach Jim Chronowski's plans last week.

Rained out most of the week, the Zebras will be busy making up the games with doubleheaders scheduled for the rest of the Great Lakes 8 Conference campaign, according to the Wayne coach.

"We have doubleheaders scheduled with Fordson (at home) on Friday," Chronowski said after the torrential outburst Monday cancelled their twin bill with Taylor Truman. "It will obviously put a big burden on our pitching staff. We're going to have to play doubleheaders with our league rivals the rest of the way."

Chronowski's Zebras did manage to edge Wyandotte last week, 3-2 to keep their conference record untarnished at 3-0. Eric Schultz, a senior righthander who has been a pleasant surprise — he's won all three Wayne league games — checked the Bruins one 2-hitter.

Schultz struck out eight, walked seven and hit one batsman for the victory. Loser Rick Prentice worked the first five inning

Schultz helped his own cause with a pair of runs batted in. Schultz also chalked up a no-hitter against Taylor Center earlier in the season as he struck out eight, walked six and also hit a batter. Rick Browe belted a pair of hits, including a triple, while John Novick hammered a homer and single and scored five runs.

Chronowski has two reliable pitchers in Schultz and Jimmy Newsom who are senior righthanders and he is looking at lefties Pete Foley, a senior, and junior Dave Day along with junior John Cota to round out the rotation.

Jim Bledsoe, who has shown he can produce on the mound, is ailing with an elbow hurt.

Earlier in the season Plymouth Canton, last year's Class A state runner-up, swept a doubleheader from Wayne.

"They've blown some teams away," Chronowski said, "so I guess I can't feel bad. I think our team will be all right if we can get the pitching, but we'll never know if this rain doesn't stop, will we?"

Trenton trims Tigers, 3-2

Belleville had the opportunities but didn't cash in on them as Trenton spoiled the Tigers Suburban 8 Conference baseball opener 3-2 last week.

Handcuffed by their inability to hit with men aboard, — John Dillon was the victim.

Dillon, a righthander, scattered four hits, didn't strike out any

Bill Bryan got credit for the victory as he notched six strikeouts and walked four. He was tagged for seven hits in the eight inning duel.

Trailing 2-1, Belleville tied it up in the sixth when Dillon led off with a single and, with one away, Ron Schubert singled, then Steve Korgal singled him home.

Belleville got a run in the third after a leadoff walk to Dennis Overholt, an error on Randy Masters' grounder to third, allowing Overholt to reach third. Overholt scored on Keith Riling's groundout.

Trenton put two runs on the scoreboard in the third, then won it in the eighth on a walk and a single by Brant Tabin.

Riling pitched a no-hitter, struck out seven and walked four as the Tigers humbled Lincoln Park 6-0 last week. Randy Lemasters collected two hits while Dillon also chip-

Cherry Hill dominated the 3,200 meter relay with the foursome of Ed Mulrooney, Richard Smith, Marc Wohlfeil and Dan Smith who ran at 1:56.0 leg in a 8:14.9 winning performance.

Wayne's 880-yard relay was the best as Bill Howard teamed with Boyer, Bass and Parnell for a 1:32.1 victory. Parnell won the high hurdles without any problems as he cleared the course in 14.8, leaving the rest of the field far behind.

Belleville, Wisniewski end Romulus streak at 5

Previously undefeated Romulus learned just how good Belleville and pitcher Judy Wisniewski are as the Tigers abruptly snapped Coach Fred Coleman's winning streak at five game with a 6-1 victory. The Tigers swept the twin bill with a 5-2 victory in the nightcap last week.

Wisniewski, considered one of the premier girl athletes on the high school softball scene this year, struck out five and

In the nightcap, Belleville emerged with a 2-1 victory on Eric Edwards' 3-hit pitching performance. He fanned four and walked three. Riling's single and a base hit by Edwards accounted for

Glenn suddenly comes 'alive'

Jaskolski clips Eagles, 3-2

Nearly 80 days ago, the Rockets basketball team at John Glenn nearly ruined Redford Thurston's hopes for an undefeated Northwest Suburban league season. On that particular night, the Rockets nearly pulled off the upset with a total team effort led by the play of senior Steve Jaskolski.

Last Friday afternoon, the Rocket baseball team exacted a measure of revenge for that earlier loss by ruining Thurston's hopes for another undefeated league season by beating the Eagles, 3-2.

Again, it was a total team effort that was responsible for the victory and, ironically, it was Jaskolski who led the Rockets to their first league win.

But Jaskolski also had plenty of help from his teammates, especially on defense. Second baseman Chris Merandi was kept extremely busy, handling every chance flawlessly and becoming responsible for 10 assists, 2 putouts and being the middle man in two double plays that thwarted Eagle scoring threats.

Donn Wolfe played first base in place of regular Tim Filary and did an excellent job, making 11 putouts.

Jaskolski helped himself in the very first inning by starting a double play himself to choke off an Eagle threat.

Offensively, Glenn began hitting the ball with much more authority than they had in their previous four games. The Rockets used their eighth well, scoring the first in seventh innings.

In the first inning, shortstop Cass Simpson led off with a walk and rode home on a blast over the left field fence by centerfielder Bruce Billings.

Thurston cut the lead to 2-1 in the second when designated hitter Dave Kress walked, took second on a wild pitch and scored when right fielder Ed Dumas got himself hung up in a rundown between first and second.

Glenn was thwarted on scoring chances themselves as Eagle pitcher ers Ochmanski and Dumas kept the game close. But, in the seventh, Wolfe singled with two out and Simpson boomed a triple to the centerfield fence for a 3-1 lead.

As it turned out, that was the winning run because Thurston came back to score a run and put runners on first and second in the bottom of the inning.

Jaskolski bore down and got Eagle centerfielder Jeff Valdez on strikes and the Rockets had a victory they sorely needed.

The victory over Thurston enabled them to escape the cellar of the league race and put them on a par with Livonia Franklin who won their first game of the season on Friday.

Earlier in the week, Jaskolski probably wished he had had a little more luck as the Garden City Cougars plastered him for four runs on six hits, including a few blasts to centerfield. Consequently, the Rockets lost, 8-4, to the Cougars who are now unbeaten (4-0) in the Northwest Suburban League.

The Cougars totaled 13 hits on the game as they made life rough for the Rocket pitchers. Wolfe and Billings followed Jaskolski to the mound and were similarly treated to a barrage of hits.

Meanwhile, the Rockets started to show life with the bat as they refused to fold. They tied the game in the first on a triple by Simpson and a fielder's choice hit into by Bill Purdue.

Glenn cut the lead to 3-2 in the second when first baseman Tim Filary walked, stole second, and scored on a double by Billings.

In the third, they cut the lead to 5-3 on a single by Mike Lentine who stole second and scored on a single by Dennis Lamberti.

Unfortunately for the Rockets, the Cougars added three more runs and, with Mike Krauss retiring 5 of the last 6 hitters he faced, Garden City had their victory that kept on top in the league race.

Next week, Glenn faces a herculean task of playing seven games in five days including doubleheaders on Friday and Saturday. But with their bats starting to come around and their pitching and defense getting better and better each game, the Rockets will definitely have something to say in the league race.

Getting into swing of things

Although rains have put a damper on most outdoor sports activities over the past couple of days, the Westland Youth Athletic Association's Central East Junior Girls managed to participate in their inaugural softball clinic where the fundamentals of the game were stressed by league coaches and officials. And due to the success of the clinic, a second drill was staged on April 23. Before the regular season is launched, WYAA plans to hold clinics in early June on four diamonds at the Henry Ruff and Palmer field. The girls in the program range from 8 to 12 years old.

Westland's Jamies softballers qualify for world tourney

After some 30 outstanding teams finished their swinging and fielding in the United States Softball Slow-Pitch Association's Invitational last week, a local team came away with the first place trophy and the qualifying berth.

Jamies softball club of Westland (formerly Joe Thomas) went through the field undefeated but had anything but an easy time of it. The Westland gang defeated Danbar of east Detroit 8-7 in the opener and had to score two runs in the bottom of the seventh to do so.

Jamies next opponent was Wendy's of Charlotte, Mich. It took a Bob Pinckney grand slam with two out in the seventh to squeak out a 14-13 victory.

Coach Tom Tompkins club then disposed of Bertin Agency of Oak Park 11-7 and Murphy's of Imlay City 12-11 to reach the finals.

In the Sunday finals, Murphy's had a 10-0 lead after 2½ innings of play but the Westlanders scored 11 runs in the bottom of the third to take the lead.

Later on, in the sixth Murphy's had a 20-15 lead before Jamies exploded for 10 more runs to grab a 25-20 advantage and they hung on to win 25-21.

New acquisition Steve Bland from Mt. Clemens was the tournament's M.V.P. with his game saving plays at shortstop and hitting. (625)

Also named to the all — tournament team were Bob Pinckney (.510), Mark Morgan (.521), Tom Guilfoyle (.634) and Dave Wyrabkiewicz (.550).

The Team sponsored by Jamie Coe will now advance to the U.S.S.A. Central Divisional World Tournament over Labor Day weekend in Pevely, Missouri.

Korgal's 3-run homer decides 2nd game

Belleville, Romulus split

Behind righthander Matt Percy's three-hit pitching performance Romulus subdued Ypsilanti Lincoln 14-0 last week as the Eagle hurler padded his personal record to 5-1 on the mound.

Percy, in recording his second shutout of the campaign, notched three strikeouts and walked one. The game was called because of the "mercy rule" after the fifth inning.

Loser Don Federer lasted 2½ innings. Romulus had five players with two hits each including Rick Boatright, Rich Dybicki, Matt Percy, and Mark Searcy who also had four runs batted in. Mick Panek hammered a bases-loaded triple in the fourth inning to break the game wide open.

Romulus split a doubleheader with neighboring Belleville last week as Coach Dennis Stoh's Eagles won the opener 4-2 but dropped the nightcap 8-7 when Steve Korgal, who went four-for-four blasted a last of the seventh 3-run homer.

Back to the first game.

Percy struck out seven and walked one in allowing four Tiger hits, while Korgal, who also went the distance, was tagged with the loss. Romulus scored one run in the second and one in the third then put the two decisive runs on the scoreboard in the fourth when Korgal issued a walk to Eddy Eddings who moved up on a fielder's choice, a single by Searcy drove him in and Bobby Sloan's groundball which was bobbled produced the final run.

Belleville got one run in the fourth and fifth innings.

Leading 7-5 going into the top of the seventh, pitcher Rich Dybicki gave up back-to-back singles to the Tigers thereby forcing Stoh into a pitching change.

Blevins took over and he was rudely greeted by Korgal who slammed his first homer of the season to decide the issue.

Mickey Pankey had an excellent four-for-four, while Rog Harris chipped in with his first four-bagger of the Romulus campaign. Belleville's record dipped to 6-6, while Romulus has an 8-4 mark going into the week of action.

Ten Pin Topics

Hearing the 'last hurrahs'

By JIM WRUBLEWSKI
(ANP Special Writer)

Now that the days are finally getting longer and this season of ours is coming to an end, the results of our efforts are beginning to show themselves.

More and more people with happy faces are stepping into the winner's circle, justifiably proud of their accomplishments these past few months.

At Westland Bowl the Ladies Classic League waited until the final night to crown their champions, the El-Capri Bar Team, as Barb Emery contributed a 234 game and 598 total to the winning cause. Teammates include Kathy Wilson, Irene Howe, Sue Ellis and Freda Holland.

The Metro Airlines League at Fiesta Lanes had a true team effort as the 8 members of the Fiesta Lanes Men's Team contributed equally to the cause to take the championship. The king size roster includes Rich Mewton, Gary Sharp, Gary Sharp, Gary Vignary, Jeff Sides, Ron Zickafoose, Jack Nelece, Dan Jacobs, and Bob Sharp.

The Monday Morning Phoenix Strikers League, composed of guards from a correctional institution, awarded first place honors to the team of Doug Crandell, Leonard Thomas, and Cathy Malone.

The super-shooter at Super Bowl as Pat Kieter who decided that her 130 average was by no means an indication that she couldn't roll a big score. Pat broke the 200 and 600 barriers for the first time with games of 200-240-209 for a 649 series; Lyn Raeb had 225-214-203 for 642; Delores Secorski hit 226 for 623; Gail Kozykowski rolled a 258 game; and the lone male voice in the group, that of young Chris Tilli, put together games of 275-235-258 for a 768 total.

Fiesta Lanes scoring was led by a Wayne Westland Men's Assoc. Director as Wil Simonds put the worries of organizing the upcoming awards banquet out of his mind to record a 714 series on games of 224-212-278 and Donna Rozek led the ladies with a 219 game and a 607 series.

The St. Mel's Mens League, rolling at Westland Bowl, tallied a pair of respectable totals as Tom Ham-merschmidt hit 207-258-278 for 743 and Jerry Cyrul had 237 and 277 on his way to a 704 total.

Town "N" Country featured Spike Rodebach achieving a lifetime high total of 700 on games of 233-224-243; Sandy Modovsky hit her first 200 game (a 210); Jim Clearman had 268 and 695; Dave Sinta was 104 pins over average with a 264; "Slim" Morvant had 241 for 619; Loren Krause finished with 10 in a row for 279; Ken Childers had 256 for 693; Lloyd McNabb hit 249 in 644; and Ed Szmansky had a 645. The Wayne Merchants League must have been using carbon paper on their score sheets as Jerry Boye had two 245 games for 693 and Max Martin hit 246 twice for a 650 total.

Lodge Lanes top scoring included Bob Goike Jr. with a 692; Tom Wright hit 685; Ralph Johnson had 675; and Walt Crawford had a 256 game. Discussions are currently underway to bring a PBA event to Lodge Lanes later this summer which if successful, will give area bowlers an opportunity to watch some of the better shooters as well as compete in Pro AM competition with them.

Additional details will be made available here as they are finalized.

Elway apparently has a problem

By ALAN K. WALTZ SR.
(ANP Special Writer)

Last week the Baltimore Colts drafted John Elway No. 1 in the National Football League draft and the resulting uproar because he says he'll not sign a contract but will instead play baseball for Mr. Steinbrenner leaves me with the same feeling you get when you have a hot fudge sundae and 3 follow-up beers...sick to my stomach.

Elway is generally thought to be the best passing quarterback to come out of college since Joe Namath. He is smart, a good play-caller and inspirational and would be a great asset to the Colts.

However, someone has been giving you bad advice Mr. Elway.

You are looking at the money as all athletes seem to do doing nowadays. You said yourself your favorite place to play would be the NFL didn't you?

Then, perhaps you can tell us all why you must play on the west coast instead of for the Colts?

Will you be No. 1 with the 49ers or the Rams? I doubt it. San Diego and Oakland seem to be pretty well set at quarterback too. I wish you could tell us where you'll be a starter with one of the coast teams unless someone has made you a promise and if so, remember...promises can be broken.

Did you ever hear of the All-American quarterback from 'Ol Miss. back in the 60's John? His name was Jake Gibbs and he set the world on fire his senior year in college and all the pro football scouts were clamoring for his services but he chose to sign a contract with the New York Yankees who happened to be winning everything in sight at the time except when they faced Frank Lary of the Tiger pitching staff.

Well, Mr. Gibbs went on to an undistinguished career as a third string catcher for the Yanks and his lifetime batting average was .233 I believe. He played 10 years in the big leagues, one game as a third baseman and about 500 as a catcher for the Yankees when everyone else was hurt.

Perhaps, you should look him up John.

Jake Gibbs could probably give you some pretty good advice. As for the Baltimore Colts? Trade him boys, pampered babies can't make it in the NFL, as you know and sign that quarterback from Slippery Rock or wherever who comes to play and forgets his wallet size.

There's got to be a quarterback around whose just waiting by the phone for someone to call...one who doesn't care where he plays or for how much but just wants a chance; one who received a new football for his 10th birthday, put it on his front porch, took a picture of it, and still has it in his closet at home. So good-bye John, everyone likes Mr. Steinbrenner as a boss anyway!

THE SCOTTS DIFFERENCE™

We wipe out weeds the others miss.

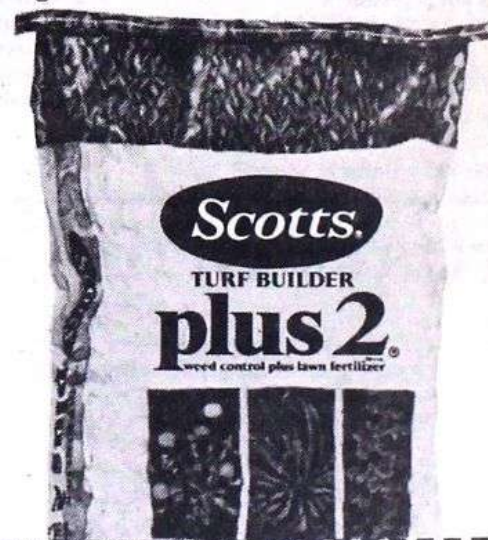

When you use Turf Builder Plus Two®, you're controlling weeds and feeding your lawn as no other weed-and-feed can. You see, to work, most weed controls have to be absorbed through the weeds' leaves. That's why Scotts® particles are small and lightweight. So they stick to the weeds' leaves better. So the weed control is absorbed better. So it works better. And only Scotts puts weed control in every particle, to get even the smallest weeds that other brands may miss.

And there's more. Turf Builder Plus Two feeds your lawn while it weeds, because it contains Turf Builder® fertilizer—the fertilizer engineered just for lawns.

You can't get all that from "bargain" brands. Only from Scotts.

No wonder Scotts guarantees your satisfaction absolutely.

This spring get the Scotts difference—and get it for less, with this refund offer.

Would you believe Orff is growing in Romulus

What is an Orff?

It is a music class in Romulus and an approach to teaching music to children.

The Orff technique was developed by Carl Orff, a German Bavarian composer whose most famous work was "Carmina Verona". Orff died in the spring of 1982.

Orff wanted to present music to children in a way that was interesting and stimulating to them. He first observed children to determine what activities they participated in joyfully and spontaneously.

ly. He then transferred his observations about children's activities to musical activities.

Singing, dancing, and playing simple instruments are the means by which Orff introduces music to all ages of children.

The class is taught by Judy James, a former music teacher who is presently teaching kindergarten in Romulus.

Ms. James uses body percussion, instruments such as the glockenspiel and the xylophone, and folk literature turned into song to help children develop rhythm and creativity.

She feels that a sense of beat and rhythm is underdeveloped in many of the children in Romulus schools because of cuts in the music program.

The two classes held thus far were composed of children in the five to seven age bracket. Their reaction to Orff is one of eagerness for learning, even practicing what they learn at home because the children don't have as much time in the one hour class as they would like to spend with these activities.

Ms. James said that she is planning a class for the summer break.

WCC offers classes for older adults

Social psychologist Robert Plummer will be offering two special classes for older adults at Washenaw Community College this spring. The classes, part of a series he calls "Sitting in the Catbird Seat?" include Midlife New Careers and Personal Money Management, are open to the public and can be taken for two hours credit, if desired.

Midlife Careers (Psychology 109) includes finding and using enrollees' interests and aptitudes, looking at 400 new career opportunities, managing one's changing potential as well as individual counseling. Classes will meet on Saturday from 8 a.m. until noon May 7 through June 18.

Personal Money Management (Economics 107) includes a look at managing and protecting the resources one has, making $1 do the work for $2, investing for growth and income. Classes meet Mondays and Wednesdays from 7-9:15 p.m. through June 15.

Registration for these classes is going on now. For details, please call WCC staff at 973-3548.

CANCELLATIONS AND CORRECTIONS

Read your ad carefully the first time it appears, and report any errors before the next edition. This will be the only proof you will receive. Errors should be reported immediately, as Associated Newspapers, Inc. can be responsible for the first incorrect insertion only. NO CASH REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.

PUBLICATION POLICY

The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classify advertising submitted for publication. Publisher shall not be held liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion and then only for that portion of ad that may have been rendered valueless by such error. Advertisers are advised to check their ad immediately after it appears in the paper and report at once any error found. Claims for error adjustment must be made immediately after ad is published.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED AD

1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, it's better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR. Readers react more quickly and favorably when given complete or definite information. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader to reach you. ALWAYS INSERT your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS ARE already interested in buying used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are in the market to buy. Give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL to do so through a lack of readability, but because they are often quickly worded and do not contain enough information to prompt action.

Serbay Motor Sales earns bragging rights

Ray Serbay is justifiably proud of the "brag board" that hangs in his dealership.

Letters from satisfied customers at Serbay Motor Sales are posted on this board as a testimonial to the reasons behind the agency's success. Obviously there's more involvement here than simply the sale of Buicks, GMC trucks and Datsuns.

"We get between five and 10 letters a month from people who are pleased with the way they were treated," said Serbay, who boasts of 33 years in the automobile business. "That's really a lot of letters when one considers that people generally are quicker to complain than pay compliments."

Serbay has operated his dealership at the same location, 34 E. Michigan in Ypsilanti, for 23 years. In 1979 he switched from marketing Chrysler-Plymouth products to the complete line of Buicks and GMC trucks while maintaining the sale of Datsuns, which he started 13 years ago.

With a staff of 30 and 22,000 square feet of space spread over two buildings, Serbay Motor Sales continues to prosper. A sluggish economy has failed to stop the agency from reporting annual sales of 600 new automobiles and a growing used-car business as well.

About the only problem encountered these days is a shortage of inventory, a direct result of improved sales.

"There's finally the realization that even with 15 percent unemployment, that means 85 percent are working," Serbay said. "Confidence in the economy is returning and the auto market is coming up."

"I believe things are going to take off and we'll see improved auto sales for the next three years," he predicted.

To help promote the business, Serbay offers an attractive financing plan, including a 9.9 percent interest rate on several General Motors' vehicles. Five-year financing on vans also enables the buyer to keep the payments as low as possible.

Serbay's experienced staff is directed by General Manager Mike Serbay; Sales Manager Gary Medved, and Service Manager Wayne Carlson, who heads a crew of trained professionals.

Yet despite such assets as quality product lines and growing customer confidence, Serbay attributes his dealership's reputation and longevity in the marketplace to one factor—SERVICE.

"We're totally service oriented," he admitted. "Customers come here from as far away as Detroit simply because of our service. When people are looking for an automobile, we ask them to check out our service department because we feel it's worth the extra few miles' drive to be totally satisfied.

"To be honest, the fact that our service volume is high helps us in other ways," he explained. "It allows us to be competitive price wise with everyone. We've always stressed service around here...I guess that's why we get all makes of cars in our service department."

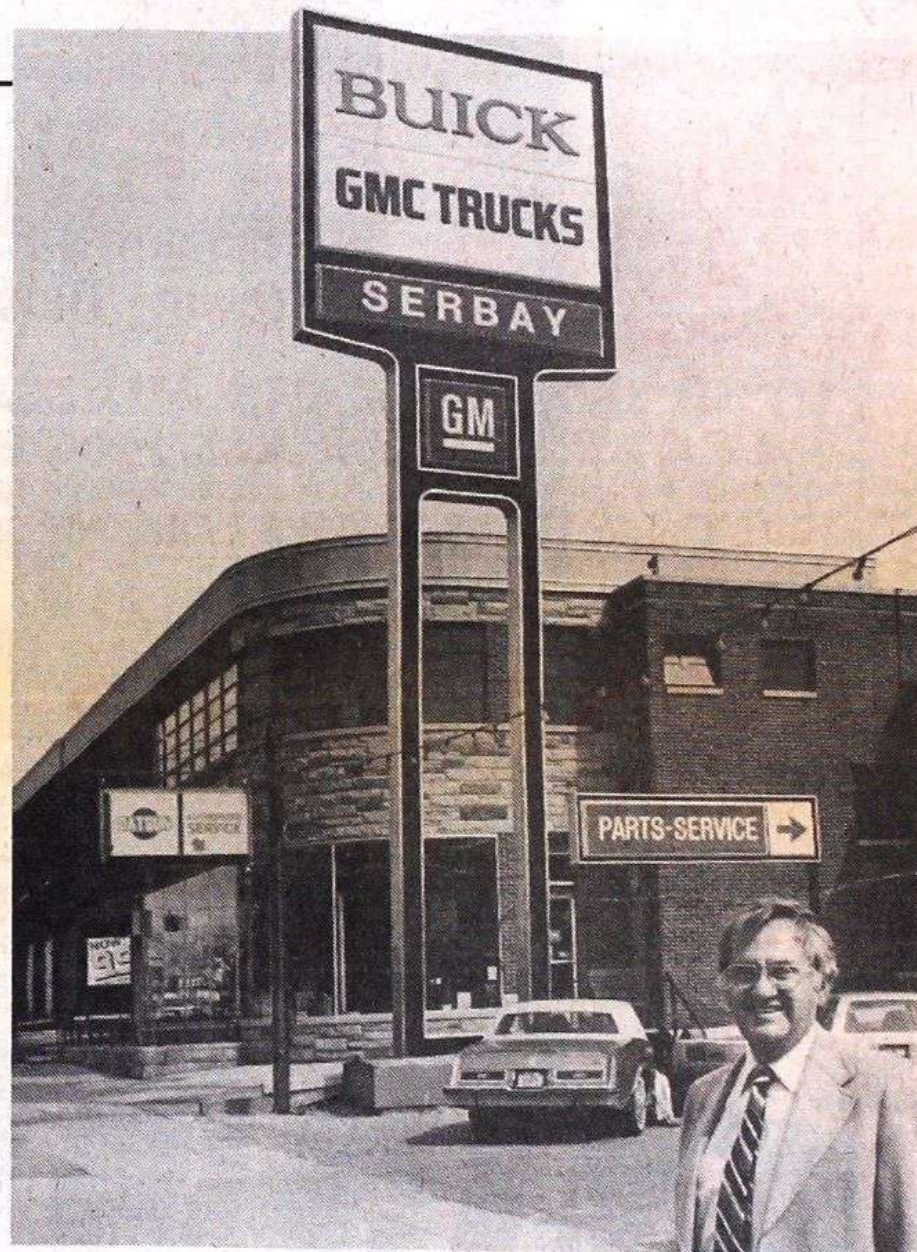

Serbay Motor Sales, a 10-mile drive from the downtown Wayne area, is open Monday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

It should be noted that "open for business" also has a special meaning at Serbay Motor Sales.

"I don't hide from anybody," laughed Serbay in explaining his open-door policy. "My office is on the main floor and the door is open."

"We've been here a long time. There must be a reason for it."

Whatever the reason, Serbay's success is worth bragging about. Just ask the satisfied customers.

Ray Serbay, outside his dealership.

32. Help Wanted

HEAD NURSE

Ambulatory Pediatrics

A University of Michigan Hospitals' nurse is a professional whose excellence reaches beyond individual patients into the community. We are looking for such a professional to provide administrative and clinical leadership in our Ambulatory Pediatric Service.

In this position you will do more than supervise unit operations. You will be responsible for maintaining and advancing the quality of pediatric nursing and pediatric health care through the development of nursing staff and involvement in applied research. You will work closely with Ambulatory Care Service Administration, Pediatric Medical Service Plan, medical staff and other health disciplines in the development and implementation of desired program goals and health care objectives. If you are driven by challenge, and have demonstrated management and public relation skills, we would like to talk with you about this dynamic role and the part you can play in Community Health Nursing at the University Hospitals.

Preferred candidates will have a MSN degree; a current Michigan license; and 3-5 years of recent pediatric clinical experience. For a closer look at this opportunity, please call collect or write: Nurse Employment Office, University of Michigan Hospitals, 300 N. Ingalls, Box 50, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109, (313) 763-4600. A Non-Discriminatory, Affirmative Action Employer.

Women of the 80s Deborah O'Connor — a voice of change

By SUE BACHAND
ANP Staff Writer

Deborah O'Connor is a woman with clout. Recently elected as the District Nine Director of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women (BPW), O'Connor will serve as the link between the state federation of BPW and members of 12 local clubs.

The clout that O'Connor now has, and that she claims all women are developing, comes from the growing activism of females in all aspects of business and the professions. The activities of the BPW, O'Connor is quick to explain, do not include the socializing usually associated with women's "clubs."

"We don't sit around drinking tea as some might picture us," she explained. "We're listening to one of our members, who's a banker, talk about the best use of our money, or another member, a CPA, talk about taxes, or an attorney tell us about some new laws — and we also have people who can tell us when it's going to be double coupon day at Krogers," she said.

"Women are different than men — we know it's different for us as women and we have to be efficient and comfortable with that difference. None of us pretend to be men," she added.

BPW is an organization devoted exclusively to helping the membership. While many community activities are undertaken, the fund raising efforts of the clubs are all geared toward helping members. "Our club has a yearly scholarship which is meant to help a woman who wants to return to school, either college or for a trade. She might be widowed or divorced and needs to learn a job skill," O'Connor said. "We don't do a lot of community work. We want to be a part of the community and active, but that is not our primary aim," she added.

Members of the Canton club are constantly aiding each other with advice on everything from dressing at the office to management tips.

"A lot of our members are managers, and that really helps me. It's nice to have that forum, to hear what other managers are doing to motivate people.

"For me it goes back to my needs as a woman administrator. Hearing how others motivate people helps me and it serves as a reminder of my goals.

"Men seem to know where they want to go. They tend to look on each job as a step toward the ultimate goal, whereas women who have a job tend to stay. This dialogue and input from other women helps remind them that they can stretch themselves and know this is a step," she said.

O'Connor is quick to stress that not every member of the BPW group is an administrator or a professional. "Our only criteria is that a woman be working for pay," she added. "We have a number of non-professionals and this is very good for them too. It's nice when they are complaining about the job or breaking into a field to have women managers who can explain what is really going on. It can give a whole new viewpoint to hear the management side of an issue.

"It's good to see the company line — to be able to look at the good of the institution and to not think of themselves as a worker but as a part of that institution," she added.

Members help one another with constructive advice on the availability of jobs, the preparation of resumes and job interview techniques. "If we think a woman isn't presenting herself as well as she can, we'll help her," O'Connor noted. "We're a networking system for women."

And the clout that O'Connor now has, she is quick to explain is the clout of the women behind her. "My club really pushed to get me elected," she said. Her election was somewhat of an upset in the usually staid policies of an organization wherein members assumed one small office, then another and another and rose gently and gradually through the ranks.

But the Canton chapter is known as the "Can Do Club" — and since its charter a mere three years ago, has produced two state winners in the young careerist competition — an unheard of feat.

"The reason we win is that we beat the bushes all year for candidates and then we work really hard with them," O'Connor said. "Our 1982 young career woman, a brand new member, will be president next year — with nothing in between. The lifeblood of our group is our younger members," she added.

The BPW is politically active at the state level, while remaining somewhat aloof from local issues. All members are supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment. "In order to go anywhere we have to support ERA. We don't support it though for wishy-washy women — we support it for the strong women who deserve to get what they earn," O'Connor said.

O'Connor is quick to explain that she doesn't consider herself a radical and doesn't want to be portrayed as one.

"I have always been treated very well by the library board and by all the men I work with. I am very lucky. But I do think discrimination exists. The men I come into contact with treat me very well — discrimination is not a personal problem. Other women, however, do have the problem although sometimes it is their own perception of themselves as second class citizens that does it," she said.

O'Connor, 32, earned both her bachelors and masters degrees at Wayne State University and is the founding librarian in Canton Township. She admits she isn't sure if she will pursue any further state offices with the BPW. "I have a commitment to my clubs before the state," O'Connor said. "Like any organization, it needs help and communication from the membership to grow."

"I think all women are developing clout. Women don't vote the way their husbands do anymore, they now vote the way they think they should. "But, we're not afraid to take anybody on. We're the moderate voice of the working woman," she concluded.

A better spokesperson would be difficult to find.

"I just feel everybody should help his fellow man."

— Theola Jones

Theola Jones — compassion is a way of life

The lessons of childhood are not soon forgotten — and in the case of Theola Jones, the lessons she learned at her mother's knee are the foundation of her adult life.

Her mother, Velma Dunlap, was also a woman involved in her community and her church. Jones recalls her mother's garden where vegetables grew in abundance, and the trips they made together to the homes of the sick. "My mother would carry vegetables to all her friends and when they were ill she'd cook for them, clean for them, just do whatever she could," Jones recalls.

"I try to lead a Christian life. I try to treat people the way I'd like to be treated. I think you should let people know that they are loved and thought of."

— Theola Jones

And now Jones does exactly that. Whenever charity is needed in her Inkster community, she is the first to be called. "I really don't know why that is," she said. "It just seems that people are always calling me for this or that, and I'm always glad to help out."

Jones, 54, is married to her childhood sweetheart, Aaron Jones Jr., and has lived in Inkster for more than 47 years. She and her husband are the parents of three children and have three grandchildren.

She retired recently after 33 years at Wayne County General Hospital where she worked as a ward supervisor in the psychiatric division.

She is now very involved with the Smith Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church where she is a member of the Mother's Club, the Steward Board, which is concerned with the spiritual aspect of the church, the Action Committee and the Cathedral Choir and the Courtesy Club. She is also a member of the Goodfellows and the Head Start Policy Committee. In addition to all this, Jones is more likely to be found collecting food and/or clothing for a needy family on her own than not.

"It seems a lot of my friends call me and tell me of someone they know who is really in need, and I'm the one who is doing the collecting," she said

Jones' philosophy is simple — "I try to lead a Christian life," she said. "I treat people the way I'd like to be treated. I think you should let people know that they are loved and thought of. I look for no reward — I just love people."

That love is epitomized by Jones' hobby — sending birthday cards. Each month as her calendar changes, Jones takes out her cards and addresses and stamps all the cards she'll send that month. She totals about 150 per year, and many go to senior citizens whom she fears no one else will remember. This, of course, doesn't include the number of get well cards she'll send during the month.

"You know so many times I hear people say, 'I meant to do that, I meant to send a card, I meant to visit that sick friend,' Well, I think you have to do it. You can't just think about it — you do it."

"I truly can't understand when people don't do things like this. To me everybody should do what I do," the dynamo added.

Jones was instrumental in organizing a birthday party for senior citizens at her church and that celebration has become a tradition now anticipated by seniors in Inkster.

"It's nice for them, they get to see old friends they haven't talked to in a long time and we have a turkey dinner for them and gifts," Jones said.

"What you put out in this life comes back to you. It will return, one way or another. I try to live by God's commandments and I many times think that God directs me."

— Theola Jones

Jones noted that she and her husband have attempted to instill the same feeling of love and charity in their children that her mother offered to her.

"When my one son went to college he would tell us about some of the kids from the inner city who just didn't have a dollar. I told him — you GIVE him a dollar and I'll send you more. You share, that's that most important

Pat Locke — only love can make things better

Pat Locke is a woman who believes in working for what she wants — and Pat Locke wanted children.

She wanted them so desperately that she spent 10 years laboring in a factory in order to build an addition on her Wayne home — a five-bedroom addition with each room earmarked for a child.

She realized her dream — she and her husband, Bill, married for 30 years, have parented more than 50 children, many of them foster children, four adopted and some natural. Trying to determine the number of natural, adopted, foster or in-care children with Locke is a difficult task indeed.

"You know we all have a skill — that's what I tell the children. And we should all help one another. My skill is raising kids. If we'd all do what we can, we'd all help and we'd all be better off."

— Pat Locke

"they're all OURS, honey."

She usually has eight children in the house, and each time one of her foster charges leaves, a part of her heart goes with them, she readily admits, "and sometimes, when they go, all of your heart seems to go," she said.

Her children have not forgotten her and her husband, and nearly every child who has ever sent time with the Lockes returns at holidays and for occasional visits. "We just love children. That's what we've devoted our lives to doing. Dad and me," she said.

Pat, 47, began raising children when her father died leaving her mother with two sisters and a brother whom Pat cared for and raised. She helped both her sisters raise their children and knew that children, to her, were the key to her life and to her future.

"You know we all have a skill — that's what I tell the children. And we should all help one another. My skill is raising kids. If we'd all do what we can, we'd all help and we'd all be better off."

"You know many parents with kids in foster homes love them very much, they just can't handle it at the time. If you can love them while their parents can't — then the parents can take over when they're able," she said.

"But I've had one here for nearly a year now, and when she goes there will be more than a few tears shed," Locke admitted.

To Locke, and to her husband, who works at Ford Motor Co., each child is very special, and the honest affection they lavish on each of the children has won the hearts of not only the kids but of the parents they have helped. "We've never had a parent irritated at us. Many still contact us," she explained.

And neither of the Lockes has any intention of giving up their dream.

"I've enjoyed this. This is what Dad and I will do until we can't do it anymore. I'll be here with these kids until I'm too old and I guess that will be when I'm 65, then they (social services) start to wonder if you're too old for a license," she said.

"You know, parents with kids in foster homes love them very much, they just can't handle it at the time. If you can love them while their parents can't — then the parents can take over when they're able"

Ann D'Arcy

Ann D'Arcy is a study in success. The Wayne mother of nine children has found time to combine a career as a busy executive with the nurturing of her family — a family that has included several foster children, adopted children and numerous children supported through the Christian Children's Fund overseas.

"I guess, right now, I have the best of both worlds," D'Arcy is quick to point out, "sometimes I just can't believe how happy I am."

She is the local direct distributor for Amway products, a job she characterizes as a responsible and yet flexible position. She began her present career 14 years ago when she was looking for a way to add to the family income and yet not take too much time from her home and children.

"I found that with this type of job, home sales, I could make excellent money and yet make my own hours," she said. The time flexibility really appealed to her and has paid bountiful rewards.

"I don't think that my children ever actually thought of me as a working mother," she explained. "They were always volunteering me for this and that at school because 'all the other mothers work.' Here I was, making great money and my kids never realized I was out of the house," she said with her quick smile.

She and her husband, Dennis, have supported several children overseas and have had as many as 10 or 13 children in the house at one time. They have one adopted child, a Cherokee Indian, and their son John who is from India.

Ann explained that one of the joys of her life was the visit that John paid to them this year at Christmas from India — "he saw his first now, celebrated his first Christmas. It was really wonderful," she said.

John, now 27, was supported by the D'Arcys through the Christian Children's Fund since he was a small boy and they continued to aid him through college. He is now employed in Saudi Arabia and the D'Arcys are very proud of him indeed.

And the subject of her overseas children sparks a very strong chord within D'Arcy as she explains what insight those children and their experiences have provided to her about her country and her lifestyle.

"I could tell such stories of people who would do anything, literally anything, to get into this country. This is still the land of free enterprise and people should be taking advantage of it rather than believing all the bad news," she said.

D'Arcy lectures to the students at the local high school during career days about her views and experiences. "Some come into the auditorium all slumped over and not eager to listen, and if they only new.

"I tell them, they've got it all right here. Don't believe the evening news about the unemployment or recession. If you come up with goods or service that people want you can go into business for yourself and make a success. I'm sorry, but I just don't think there is any need for any unemployment. If people want to work — they can find it," she said.

D'Arcy feels very strongly about her ability to influence the lives of the students to whom she speaks.

"You know, it's one thing to help a kid financially and to help him with his education — it's another to motivate him. That to me is my greatest satisfaction. I want them to know that the opportunity is still here if they will just go for it," D'Arcy added.

She is also active in the Soroptimists and the Wayne Chamber of Commerce where she serves as program chairman. "I like that better than the board of directors — this confronts you weekly and is more of a challenge," she said. D'Arcy admitted that the main concern she has, and the satisfaction she really finds both in her family life with her children and in her professional capacity is the ability to help people.

"I want people to know that they can control their own destiny. We help them in business to know that and that's what I try to impart to the students when I lecture."

She speaks glowingly of her Indian son John and his lifetime desire to become an American citizen. "It's just not possible for him," she said. "I just think that Americans are not bullish enough on America. We have the best society in the world."

"We have some Korean friends who would sell everything they own to be here. A man we know lived apart from his wife and children he adored to work on a ship because it docked in America and he thought there might become chance that he could get here."

"The young people are buying a bill of goods on the news and in the papers rather than knowing they've got it all," she stated emphatically. But to D'Arcy, her life could never be more satisfying than it is right now — "sometimes I'm just overwhelmed at how happy I really am," she noted. "I don't think I could find anything in life that would be more satisfying to me right now."

"I guess I've got it all," she concluded, "a happy life and a challenging career."

WHEN ARMY NURSES MOVE, THEY TAKE THEIR SENIORITY WITH THEM.

Army nurses are officers. They never lose status by moving, as so often happens in civilian hospitals.

In fact, the Army encourages mobility and growth. You're encouraged to continue your education in clinical specialties such as Intensive Care, OR, Pediatrics, OB or Anesthesia and to attend conferences both inside and outside the Army.

If you have a BSN and are registered to practice in the US or Puerto Rico, or you're still a student, talk to an Army Nurse Recruiter.

It could be a very happy move.

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Betty Benjamin

A whole new lifestyle

Betty Benjamin's face is familiar to a number of people who have never known her name. Benjamin has logged hundreds of hours as a volunteer at Annapolis Hospital, helping others with only the satisfaction of her efforts as her reward. She can be found, along with other volunteers helping new patients to their rooms, delivering flowers, relieving the receptionist so that she might have lunch or a break. And many times, it's Benjamin who takes the new patient, sometimes frightened of the whole hospital experience to the room and helps them get unpacked and comfortable relieving a little of the trauma of that first hospital visit. Benjamin has been a volunteer for more than three years and explained that she does it, "because I like to help people — and because there are so many people of my own that I'd like to help but am so far away from. Maybe if I'm helping out someone here, they will find someone to help them where they are."

Benjamin explained that her mother is in Indianapolis and her mother-in-law in Houston, and she'd like to think there was someone like her helping them the way she attempts to help patients at the hospital.

She is also very active at Tri-City Assembly of God, the church which supports the Dion Nursing home, work that she also enjoys on a volunteer basis and because of the satisfaction it provides her in helping others.

She and her husband, Rod, have been married for four years. They met while both were employed at Meijers, Inc. where Rod still works.

"I guess the volunteer work is just very satisfying to me, just to be there for people. Especially older people. It's nice to spend time with them — they are so grateful, she explained.

Among her other interests, outside her volunteer work, are bowling, and she and Rod enjoy their Westland yard enormously, she said.

"We have fixed it up as a sort of bird sanctuary and planted all the trees and shrubs with the birds in mind. We keep water for them the year round and food during the winter. We really enjoy it," she added.

"I guess volunteer work is just very satisfying to me, just to be there for people. Especially older people. It's nice to spend time with them — they are so grateful."
—Betty Benjamin

And Benjamin's new life at 51 is a surprise to her, she admits. The mother of four grown children and grandmother of seven, she noted that watching her children grow up was a surprise. "Eight, 10 or 15 years ago I couldn't see beyond being a mother.

"It's all quite different now. But I guess it's all a part of maturing and enjoying each stage of life. Especially having a husband like mine — he's great," she concluded.

Westland poet at convention

Deborah Montwori of Westland has been selected as one of twelve "New Voices" in Michigan poetry and will read to a statewide audience at the 7th Annual Michigan Poetry Festival at the Book Cadillac Hotel in downtown Detroit next month.

Philip Levine, considered one of the finest poets writing today, returns to his native Detroit to head the roster of poets who will read at the festival. Levine's reading, at 7:30 p.m. on May 14, will be open to the public for a charge of $3.

Manuscript workshops, workshops on publishing, bilingual programs on Spanish and Slavic poetry, and a lively combo of jazz-poetry will be performed by musicians and poets.

Karen Barnhart

Karen Barnhart

A special teen

Karen Barnhart is a very special young woman. While she won't admit that fact, and seems to shy away from any mention of the qualities that set her apart from other 17-year old high school students, her mother has no qualms in talking about her daughter. "She has been my tower of strength for the past two years," explained Carol Barnhart, "and without her I don't think I would have recovered the way I did."

Mrs. Barnhart was hospitalized several times during the last two years and Karen has taken on the responsibilities of running the household. "She took complete care of the house besides doing the washing and shopping and paying the bills for her Dad, and doing all the cooking.

"Along with all that she had to do she never missed a day of school and kept her marks up," her mother continued. "She never missed calling me sometime during the day from school and never missed a visiting time to see me," she added.

Karen, a senior at Wayne Memorial, shrugs off any credit for the job she assumed in taking over the running of a household at the ripe old age of 15. She explained that "it really didn't take much time, I did most everything in the evenings."

Karen is hoping for a career as a Registered Nurse and notes that most of her friends and classmates are planning more for careers than marriage nowadays.

"I'd be mad if somebody told me I couldn't do something because I'm a woman. I have rights too, and I have a right to do as I want," she stated.

She noted that the care of her mother, her Dad, Robert, and brother Robby, now 15, did take time, but that she wouldn't hesitate to do it again.

"I guess the most influential person in my life is my Mom — she made me the way I am," Karen said.

Karen includes horseback riding, boating, skiing, roller skating and her dog, Gigi, among her hobbies. She also enjoys reading a great deal.

And as for her motto or philosophy it appears somewhat undeveloped yet, although she did confess that she does believe, "If you want friends, you've got to be a friend."

"She is not only my daughter, but she's also my very best friend — and I love her with all my heart," said her mother.

thing I ever taught my children," she said. "What you put out in this life comes back to you. It will return, one way or another. I try to live by God's commandments and I many times think that God directs me. "I guess I'd say I just try not to hurt and to be a pleasant person," Jones said.

Jones, who took care of her aging mother for several years, and nursed her husband when he was seriously ill, is still recovering from surgery she underwent recently but hasn't stopped her charity efforts. Last week she was desperately searching for clothing for an unwed mother who had nothing and she is presently on the lookout for three twin beds for a family in desperate need.

"I just don't feel right being home. I guess I feel there is just something more that I should be doing. I've thought of going back to school but I guess my real dream is to see the novel I've started to write in print," Jones said.

"You know my daughter is always tired, and I just can't understand it. I guess I'm just used to hard work — but I've always been up early and worked hard," Jones said.

"I just feel everybody should help their fellow man," she concluded. She has certainly done her part.

to provide. "If only everybody would care for one another — you know kind words never hurt anybody," Locke said with her quick laugh.

She also believes in teaching kids respect for others. "And respect for themselves. You know, I always tell them, you have to respect yourself before you can help others. My three children share with all the kids in this house. We all try to make the world a little better than it is," she added.

Locke and her husband enjoy camping, traveling with their daughter who plays the accordion in competition, baking, cooking and especially canning their own foods.

"There's a lot of things we like to do. That's why we've got the little ones around — to give us an excuse to enjoy them," she laughed.

Those outings include yearly trips to Cedar Point, and a camping trip with 10 children in a van last year to Disneyworld.

"Now, that was an experience," she concluded.

Seniors give cities gift

Canned goods and cash donations were presented to representatives of the cities of Wayne and Westland by members of the Wayne Westland Community Schools Senior Adult Club this month.

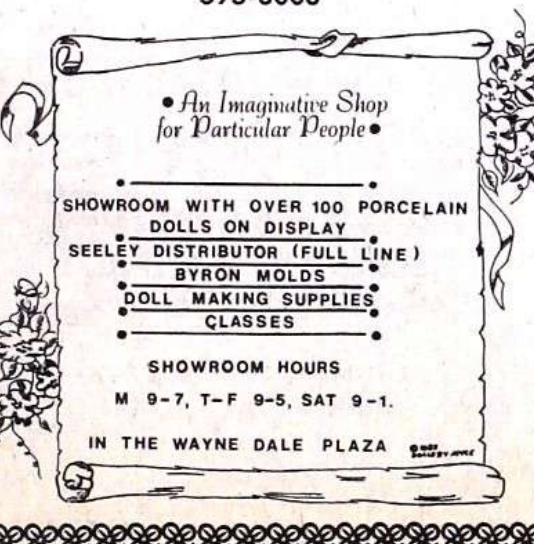

Wayne Mayor Patrick Norton accepted checks and canned foods from the seniors while Wayne-Westland School Trustee Sharon Scott accepted the donations on behalf of Westland. Scott acted as coordinator of the Westland food-drive program.

The program, "Caring and Sharing" will continue with seniors collecting food and sponsoring fund raising events and food drives.

President of the Tuesday Club Millie Skoog and Millie Farrell presented the food and checks to the city representatives.
